THE Committee, to whom was referred the duty of drafting a CODE OF BY-LAWS, for the better regulation of the business of the Grand Lodge, and the subordinate Lodges under its jurisdiction, have attended to the responsible duties of their appointment, and herewith respectfully submit their report.

Experience had taught your committee the inexpediency of longer relying upon a few vague rules for the government of the Lodges, and the impossibility of enforcing regulations which have existence only in the general constitutions and usages of the Craft. They have, therefore, endeavored to embrace in the new Code, so much of what may properly be termed the common, as well as statute law of the Fraternity, as in their opinion will hereafter be found essential to a due and efficient discharge of the multifarious and important duties devolving on the administration of the Order in this Commonwealth. They do not, however, presume that they have covered the whole ground, or that they have embraced every point which it might be desirable to incorporate among the permanent regulations of the Grand Lodge. This would be a work of laborious research and reflection, requiring more time than your committee could conveniently devote to the subject. They nevertheless believe that the Code will be found to be sufficiently copious to meet all questions which are likely to arise in the ordinary transaction of Masonic business.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THE Committee to whom was entrusted the work of publishing a new edition of the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge, present to their Brethren this volume, as the report of their doings.

In the preparation of this Book, they have endeavored to secure the utmost accuracy.

The Committee are indebted to the Recording Secretary of the Grand Lodge, C. W. MOORE, Esq., for the able and interesting biographical papers appended to the Constitutions, which embrace a clear outline of the early history of Masonry in Massachusetts.

They are under like obligations to the same accomplished pen for the elaborate tables, in the Appendix, which will add a material value to the volume, as a work of reference.

The volume is embellished by a well executed lithographic likeness of the first Grand Master of Massachusetts, whose portrait adorns the walls of the Masonic Temple, in this city.

In accordance with a vote of the Grand Lodge, the Committee have procured copper plate engravings, illustrating the Jewels and Regalia of the officers of the Grand Lodge, and also of the Jewels of the subordinate Lodges under its jurisdiction, which they have inserted in connection with a description of the Regalia in the Constitution.

For the Committee.

ARTICLE IV.

POWERS OF THE GRAND LODGE.

SEC. 1. By the Ancient Constitutions and usages of Freemasonry, the Grand Lodge, as the supreme Masonic authority in this Commonwealth, is invested with certain original, essential and unalterable powers and privileges. Among these, is the power of enacting laws and regulations for the government of the Craft, and of altering, repealing and abrogating them; of establishing and preserving a uniform system of work and lectures; of issuing Dispensations and Charters for new Lodges, and of suspending or revoking the same, for unmasonic conduct, the non-observance of the regulations of this Grand Lodge, the non-payment of dues, or other neglect of duty.

Craft, or to particular Lodges, or to individual Brothers; which power it may exercise either by itself or by such delegated authority, as, in its wisdom and discretion, it may appoint; but in the Grand Lodge alone resides the power of revoking the Charter of Lodges and expelling Brethren from the Craft.

And each District Deputy Grand Master, on receiving from the Grand Treasurer the jewel of his office, and the records of the District over which he is appointed, shall give to the Grand Treasurer a receipt in the following form, viz :—

Whereas, I, ———, have been appointed and duly commissioned District Deputy Grand Master of Massachusetts, for the ——— Masonic District, and have received the collar and jewel appertaining to said office, and the book of records of said District—I hereby promise to return the same, at the expiration or revocation of my commission, to the Treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, and in default thereof, I promise to pay on demand, to the order of said Treasurer, or whoever may hold the office of Treasurer of said Grand Lodge, the sum of fifty dollars.

SEC. 11. of Freemasonry; and for the convenience of our respective dwellings and other good reasons, we are desirous of forming a new Lodge, to be named ———. We, therefore, with the approbation of the District Deputy Grand Master and the Lodge nearest our residence, respectfully pray for a Dispensation, empowering us to meet as a regular Lodge, at ———, on the ——— of every month, and there to discharge the duties of Ancient York Masonry, in a constitutional manner, according to the forms of the Order and the laws of the Grand Lodge. The interest arising from said funds and other property, shall be made a part of the Charity Fund of the Grand Lodge, and in case of forfeiture, the principal shall be devoted to the same object. No Charter thus deposited, shall be restored, unless the provisions of this section shall have been strictly complied with, nor unless seven of

SEC. 2. Every Charter, when declared forfeited, shall be returned to the Grand Lodge, with the records, by-laws, seal, regalia, funds, and other property of the Lodge, of every description; and all members of a Lodge who shall refuse to make such surrender, or who shall vote to divide the funds thereof among themselves, or to appropriate them in any other way than is herein designated, shall be liable to expulsion from all the rights and privileges of Freemasonry.

SEC. 3. If at any time it shall be found necessary to suspend or cancel the Warrant or Charter of any Lodge, under this jurisdiction, for irregular or unmasonic conduct, the members of said Lodge, at the time of its having incurred such penalty, shall be disqualified to visit or join any other Lodge, without special permission of the Grand Lodge, obtained on memorial.

SEC. 4. Any Mason knowingly assisting at the work of a Lodge, whose Warrant or Charter has been suspended or cancelled, shall be liable to expulsion from the rights of Masonry.

ARTICLE IV.

SUSPENSIONS AND EXPULSIONS.

SEC. 1. Whenever a member of a Lodge, or a Brother, under this jurisdiction, shall be accused of any offence, which, if proved, would subject him to suspension or expulsion, the proceedings in the premises, shall be conducted agreeably to the following rules :—

Rule 1. The accusations shall be made in writing, under the signature of a Master Mason, and given in charge to the Secretary of the Lodge, who, under the direction of the Master, shall serve, or cause the accused to be served, with an attested copy of the charges, fourteen days at least previously to the time appointed for their examination : Provided, the residence of the accused shall be known, and shall be within the distance of fifty miles of the place where the Lodge having the matter in hand, is located. If the residence of the accused be at a greater distance than fifty miles, but within the State, then, and in that case, a summon to appear and show cause, forwarded to him by mail, or other conveyance, twenty days at least before the time of trial, shall be considered sufficient service. If his residence be out of the State, and unknown, the Lodge may proceed to examine the charges, exparte ; but if known, a summons shall be sent him by mail, or otherwise, sixty days, at least, before the time appointed for the examination.

Rule 2. The examination of the charges shall be had in a Lodge specially notified and convened for the purpose, at which no visitors shall be admitted, except as counsel or witnesses.

Rule 3. The accused may select any Brother for his counsel, and the witnesses shall testify, if Masons, on their honor, as such. Hearsay evidence shall be excluded.

Rule 4. The question—"Is the accused guilty or not guilty?" shall be distinctly put to each member of the Lodge, by name, commencing with the youngest. The answer shall be given standing, and in a distinct and audible manner. The Secretary shall record the answer as given.

Rule 5. If the verdict be suspension or expulsion, an attested copy of the proceedings shall be sent up at the ensuing meeting of this Grand Lodge, for examination and final action.

Rule 6. A sentence of expulsion shall not take effect, until confirmed by this Grand Lodge; but shall operate as a suspension of the delinquent in the mean time.

SEC. 2. It shall not be competent for a Lodge to try its Master. Any five members of the Lodge, or the District Deputy Grand Master, may, however, impeach him before the Grand Master, who shall order an investigation of the charges; and if, in his opinion, they are well founded, and of a character to justify the proceeding, he may suspend the delinquent and summon him to appear at the ensuing meeting of the Grand Lodge, to show cause why he should not be dealt with according to the regulations and usages in such cases established.

SEC. 3. An expulsion or suspension of a Brother from a Royal Arch Chapter, or an Encampment of Knights Templars, shall not operate as an expulsion or suspension from the Lodge of which he is a member.

SEC. 4. No Lodge under this jurisdiction shall suspend or expel a member from the rights of Masonry, for the non-payment of dues. The highest penalty for such delinquency, shall be forfeiture, or suspension, of membership.

ARTICLE V.

APPEAL AND RESTORATION.

SEC. 1. As the Grand Lodge, when congregated, is a representation of every individual member of the Fraternity, it necessarily possesses a supreme superintending authority, and the power of finally deciding on every case which concerns the interests of the Craft. Any Brother, therefore, who may feel aggrieved by the decision of any Lodge, or other Masonic authority, acting under this jurisdiction, may appeal to the Grand Lodge against such decision. The appeal must be made in writing, specifying the particular grievance complained of, and be transmitted to the Grand Secretary, ten days, at least, before the ensuing meeting of the Grand Lodge. A notice and copy of the appeal must also, and at the same time, be sent by the appellant, to the party against whose decision the appeal is made.

SEC. 2. Whenever this Grand Lodge shall reverse or abrogate the decision of a subordinate Lodge, suspending or expelling a Brother, and shall restore him to the benefits and privileges of Masonry, he shall not thereby be restored to membership within the body from which he was suspended or expelled, without its unanimous consent.

ARTICLE VI.

COMMITTEES—THEIR APPOINTMENT, &c.

SEC. 1. All Committees, whose election is not herein provided for, shall be appointed by the Grand Master, or in his absence, by the presiding officer, unless otherwise ordered by the Grand Lodge.

SEC. 2. No Brother, not a member of the Grand Lodge, shall be appointed on any Committee therein. This, however, is not intended to militate against the right of the Grand Master to commission any Brother, in writing, for a specific purpose.

SEC. 3. All Committees, chosen or appointed, shall report their proceedings, in writing, at the next Communication after their appointment. The first Brother chosen or appointed shall be chairman, and shall furnish each of the Committee with a copy of the vote of his appointment, as received from the Grand Secretary, and designate the time and place of meeting.

SEC. 4. The expenses of all Committees shall be paid by the Grand Lodge.

ARTICLE VIII.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

SEC. 1. A Lodge of Instruction may be holden in any town or city in the Commonwealth, where there is more than one Lodge located : Provided the sanction of either of said Lodges, and the permission of the Grand Master, in writing, be obtained. The Lodge giving its sanction, and the Brethren to whom such permission is granted, shall be answerable for the proceedings of such Lodge of Instruction, and responsible that the mode of working therein adopted, has received the sanction of the Grand Lodge.

SEC. 2. Notice of the times and places of meeting of such Lodges of Instruction, shall be given to the Brethren in the vicinity, who shall be at liberty to join the same, subject to such rules, regulations and assessments, as may be agreed upon.

SEC. 3. Each Lodge of Instruction shall keep a record of its proceedings, and of the names of all visiting Brethren present at each meeting, and of Brethren appointed to hold office ; and such record shall be produced when called for by the Grand Master, or by the Lodge granting its sanction.

SEC. 4. The Grand Master shall have power to suspend or dissolve any Lodge of Instruction, when, in his opinion, there shall be sufficient cause therefor.

SEC. 5. Any Brother being a member of a subordinate Lodge under this jurisdiction, may become a member of any Lodge of Instruction in this Commonwealth, by complying with the regulations thereof.

PART FOURTH.

SUBORDINATE LODGES.

ARTICLE I.

POWERS AND DUTIES.

SEC. 1. All Lodges under this jurisdiction have a right to convene as Free and Accepted Masons, to receive and enter Apprentices, pass Fellow-Crafts, and raise Master Masons, and assess fees therefor; to choose officers annually, establish funds for charitable purposes, and transact all matters appertaining to Masonry, agreeably to their Charters, the laws of the Grand Lodge, and the ancient usages of the Craft.

SEC. 2. The Lodges under this jurisdiction shall be formed into Districts by the Grand Master; for each of which a District Deputy Grand Master shall be annually appointed. And it shall be the duty of every Master, or presiding officer of a Lodge, when notified of the intended official visit of the District Deputy Grand Master, to convene his Lodge, receive him as the representative of the Grand Lodge, resign the chair to him while making his official communications, submit to his inspection the By-Laws, records and mode of work, and deliver to him the return of the Lodge, and the dues to the Grand Lodge.

SEC. 3. The Lodges under this jurisdiction shall make an annual return to their District Deputy Grand Master, of their officers and members, of all candidates initiated, crafted and raised, agreeably to the form established by the Grand Lodge; for which purpose they shall be furnished with suitable blanks.

SEC. 4. Should any Lodge neglect to make its returns and payments to the Grand Lodge, for the space of two years, the Master and Wardens of such Lodge, shall not be permitted to attend, in their official capacity, any meeting of the Grand Lodge, until such returns and payments are made. And should the delinquency continue for three years, the Charter, funds and regalia of such Lodge, may be declared forfeited to the Grand Lodge.

SEC. 5. No petition for the removal of a Lodge from the place in which it is located, shall be sustained in Grand Lodge, unless said petition is sanctioned by the District Deputy Grand Master of the District where said Lodge is situated, and has the approbation of the Lodge nearest the place where the said Lodge is intended to be held; the same to be signified, in writing, to the Grand Lodge. Nor shall any Lodge hold meetings, unless authorized by the Grand Master, in any place other than the one designated in their Charter, under the penalty of a forfeiture thereof.

SEC. 6. The majority of the members of any Lodge, when duly assembled, shall have the right to instruct their Master and Wardens as their representatives in Grand Lodge.

SEC. 7. As every warranted Lodge is a constituent part of the Grand Lodge, in which assembly all the power of the Fraternity resides, it is clear that no other authority can destroy the power granted by a warrant. If, therefore, the majority of any Lodge should determine to leave the Institution or leave that Lodge, the constitution, or power of assembling, remains with the rest of the members, who adhere to their allegiance. If the number remaining shall, however, be reduced to less than seven, the Charter shall be returned, agreeably to the regulation in such cases provided.

SEC. 8. If the Master and Wardens of any Lodge, be summoned to attend, or to produce the Charter, books, papers, or accounts of their Lodge, to the Grand Master, or the District Deputy Grand Master, within whose jurisdiction it is located, or any committee authorized by the Grand Lodge, and refuse to comply, or give satisfactory reasons for non-compliance, they may be suspended, and the proceedings shall be notified to the Grand Lodge; when, in case of contumacy, expulsion, or revocation of Charter, shall be the penalty.

SEC. 9. All Lodges are particularly bound to observe the same usages and customs. Every deviation, therefore, from the established mode of working is highly improper, and ought not to be countenanced. In order to preserve this uniformity, and to cultivate a good understanding among the Craft, some members of every Lodge should be deputed to visit the other Lodges as often as may be convenient. And it shall be the duty of the Master and Wardens to qualify themselves in the work and lectures, sanctioned by the Grand Lodge, that they may be enabled to instruct their respective Lodges.

SEC. 10. Each Lodge shall pay, annually, towards the support of the Grand Lodge, six dollars; and five dollars for every candidate by them initiated. And shall receive from the Grand Lodge, as many Diplomas and Grand Lodge Traveling Certificates, as they may make Master Masons.

ARTICLE II.

PROXIES OF LODGES.

SEC. 1. It is the duty of every Lodge to be represented at the communications of the Grand Lodge, by its Master and Wardens, or by a Proxy duly commissioned, under the seal of the Lodge, and the attes-tation of the Master and Secretary. And, that there may be no excuse for neglect of this duty, each Lodge is authorized to appoint any Master Mason of regular standing, not holding office in Grand Lodge, and being a member of a subordinate Lodge under this jurisdiction, as a Proxy to represent them in the Grand Lodge; and such Proxy shall have a right to a seat in the Grand Lodge, during the Masonic year in which he was appointed, and to a vote, when the Master and Wardens of the Lodge he represents, shall not, either of them, be present. The letter, by which a Lodge shall appoint a Proxy, is to be in form and substance as follows, viz :—

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Massachusetts.

BE IT KNOWN,

* SEAL. *

That Brother — —, of — —, having been chosen by the members of — — Lodge, in — —, to represent — —, said Lodge in Grand Lodge the ensuing year : I do, by these presents, in their behalf, constitute and appoint him their representative ; for them to appear, and upon all subjects relating to the Craft in general, and to said Lodge in particular, to act and decide as fully as though we were personally present.

Confirming the acts of our beloved Brother, in his capacity aforesaid—We pray that he may enjoy all the privileges and protection to which we are entitled.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name, and caused the seal of our Lodge to be affixed, this — — day of — —, A. L. 58—,

Attest,

— —, Secretary.

SEC. 2. Every Lodge, represented by Proxy in the Grand Lodge, shall issue the commission annually. All commissions of Proxies shall expire with the closing of the Grand Lodge on the festival of St. John the Evangelist, or the day of installation. And no Brother shall represent more than one Lodge at the same time, either as representative or Proxy.

ARTICLE III.

INITIATION OF CANDIDATES.

SEC. 1. All applications for initiation shall be made in writing, over the signature of the applicant, and in the following form :—

FORM OF PETITION.

To the W. Master, Wardens and Members of ——— Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons :—

The subscriber respectfully represents, that having long entertained a favorable opinion of your ancient institution, he is desirous, if found worthy, to be admitted a member thereof.

My place of residence is ———.

Age —.

Occupation ———.

I have ——— before applied for initiation.

Signed, ———.

[Date.]

RECOMMENDATION.

I, ———, member of ——— Lodge aforesaid, hereby recommend said ——— for initiation.

Signed, ———.

And no candidate shall be balloted for who has not been proposed at a stated monthly meeting, and who shall not have stood so proposed from one regular monthly meeting to another, without a dispensation therefor: nor shall a candidate, in any event, be balloted for, into whose moral character a strict inquiry has not been made, and whose name has not been borne on the notifications for the meeting at which he is to be balloted for.

SEC. 2. No candidate, whose application may be rejected by a Lodge, shall be initiated in any Lodge under this jurisdiction, other than the one to which he first applied, without a recommendation from six members of the said Lodge, of whom the Master and Wardens shall be three. And when the Master and Wardens are unwilling so to recommend a candidate, who has been rejected, it shall be their duty to communicate such rejection to the Grand Lodge, or to the District Deputy Grand Master, who shall immediately communicate the same to all the Lodges under his jurisdiction. And if any Mason knowingly assist, or recommend for initiation, to any Lodge whatever, any candidate rejected as aforesaid, who may not have obtained a recommendation as before provided, such Mason shall be expelled from the Institution, or subjected to such other penalty as the Grand Lodge may see cause to impose.

SEC. 3. The general rule which governs the Order in the admission of members is, that such admission is to be sanctioned by entire unanimity; and so sacred and fundamental does the Grand Lodge conceive this rule to be, that no candidate shall be initiated in any Lodge, under this jurisdiction, without a clear and unanimous vote in his favor. Every member present shall vote on the application, unless excused by the Lodge.

SEC. 4. By the ancient regulations, the physical deformity of an individual operates as a bar to his admission into the Fraternity. But in view of the fact, that this regulation was adopted for the government of the Craft, at a period when they united the character of operative with that of speculative Masons, this Grand Lodge, in common, it is believed, with most of her sister Grand Lodges in this country and in Europe, has authorized such a construction of the regulation, as that, where the deformity does not amount to an inability to meet the requirements of the ritual and honestly to acquire the means of subsistence, it constitutes no hindrance to initiation.

SEC. 5. All applications for initiation shall be made to the Lodge in the town where the petitioner resides, if there be a Lodge in such town ; but if there be none, then he shall apply to the Lodge nearest his residence. And no person residing in a town where there is a Lodge, shall be initiated in any other town, without the written consent and approbation of the Master and Wardens of that Lodge. Nor shall any candidate be received from any other State, (he being a resident thereof,) where a regular Lodge is established, without the written permission of the Grand Master of such State.

SEC. 6. No Entered Apprentice or Fellow-Craft, initiated or passed in any Lodge within the United States, shall be passed or raised in any Lodge under this jurisdiction, without the consent of the Master and Wardens of the Lodge in which he was first admitted, or a dispensation from the Grand Master.

SEC. 7. Any member of a subordinate Lodge may object to the initiation, passing, or raising of a candidate, at any time before the degree is conferred; and it shall be the duty of the Lodge to investigate such objections before proceeding further with the candidate.

SEC. 8. The fee demanded by a Lodge for initiating, crafting and raising a Mason, shall not be less than twenty dollars, including the fee to the Grand Lodge; and no Lodge under this jurisdiction, shall take notes of hand for fees, or grant any time of credit therefor.

SEC. 9. No Lodge, in the absence of the Master and Wardens, shall initiate, craft, or raise a candidate, unless a Past Master is present to preside.

NOTE.—In the discussion of this article in Grand Lodge, the first section being under consideration, the opinion was expressed, and acquiesced in, that the clause in said section, which requires the names of candidates to be borne on the notifications for the meeting at which the balloting takes place, is not intended to affect the Lodges in the country, which do not issue written notifications.

PART FIFTH.

MISCELLANEOUS REGULATIONS.

SEC. 1. No business, other than that appertaining to the work and lectures, shall be transacted in a Lodge, while open on the first or second degree. All general business, such as the election and installation of officers, the discussion of questions relating to the general interests of the Fraternity, and the local affairs of the Lodge, shall be transacted in a Masters' Lodge.

SEC. 2. The Lodges shall admit as Members, such only as are Master Masons. And any Brother having been discharged for non-payment of dues, shall not be admitted to membership in any other Lodge, until the same are paid, or remitted. The receipt or certificate from the Secretary of the Lodge, of which the applicant was last a member, shall be satisfactory evidence that his dues have been liquidated.

SEC. 3. The Master of any Lodge, under this jurisdiction, who has faithfully discharged his duties and complied with the laws of the Grand Lodge, shall, at the end of his first year, be presented by the District Deputy Grand Master, with a Past Master's Diploma.

SEC. 4. Any Lodge may take cognizance of the conduct of any sojourning Brother or Brethren, not attached to any particular Lodge, upon a charge of unmasonic conduct.

SEC. 5. No Lodge shall encourage, promote, or permit, the delivery of any Masonic lectures, which have not been sanctioned and authorized by the Grand Lodge. Nor shall any Mason be permitted to deliver such lectures under this jurisdiction.

SEC. 6. No Lodge shall form a public procession, without permission from the Grand Master, (or in his absence, the Deputy Grand Master,) or the District Deputy Grand Master within whose District it is located.

SEC. 7. No Mason can be interred with the formalities of the Order, unless it be at his own special request, without a dispensation from the Grand Master ; nor under any circumstances, unless he has been advanced to the degree of a Master Mason.

SEC. 8. No Lodge, or officer or member of a Lodge, shall, under any circumstances, give a certificate or recommendation, to enable a Mason to proceed, from Lodge to Lodge, as a pauper, or, in an itinerant manner, to apply to Lodges for relief.

SEC. 9. It shall not be permitted to introduce political, or other exciting topics, for discussion in any Lodge under this jurisdiction.

SEC. 10. A Lodge ought to meet once in each calendar month, but may, with propriety, adjourn during the summer months of June, July and August.

SEC. 11. The Master of a Lodge has the special charge of its Charter, and it is his duty to see that it is carefully preserved. It must be present whenever the Lodge is opened.

SEC. 12. A visiting Brother, having produced his Grand Lodge Certificate, or Diploma, has a right to call for the Charter of the Lodge he desires to visit.

SEC. 13. No Brother shall be a member of more than one Lodge ; nor shall he hold more than one office in the same Lodge, or in Grand Lodge, at the same time.

SEC. 14. The removal of a Brother into another jurisdiction, does not, of itself, authorize his name to be stricken from the roll of the Lodge of which he is a member.

SEC. 15. No Mason, not a member of some subordinate Lodge, shall be allowed to visit the same Lodge, in the place where he resides, more than twice, without the permission of the Master, or vote of the Lodge.

SEC. 16. No Lodge can suspend the operation of a By-Law, or, at a special meeting, alter or expunge any part of the proceedings of a stated one.

SEC. 17. No Brother ought to be elected Master of a Lodge, who has not served, at least one year, in the office of Warden.

SEC. 18. No Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, can legally assemble, in this Commonwealth, under a warrant granted by any foreign Masonic power.

SEC. 19. It shall not be legal for any Lodge to interfere with the business or concerns of another Lodge.

SEC. 20. Any vote passed in the Grand Lodge, or by any subordinate Lodge, may be reconsidered at the same meeting ; or at the next subsequent meeting, provided notice of the intention to move for such a reconsideration, shall be given at the meeting at which the vote was originally passed.

SEC. 21. A Lodge or Brother offending against any law or regulation of the Craft, or of this Grand Lodge, to the breach of which no penalty is attached, shall, at the discretion of the Grand Lodge, be subject to admonition, suspension, or expulsion.

SEC. 22. No permanent regulation of this Grand Lodge, shall be repealed, or amended, at the meeting at which such repeal, or amendment, is proposed, nor until it has been duly considered by a committee, to be chosen by the Grand Lodge, at a previous Quarterly Communication. A majority of two-thirds of the votes cast shall be necessary for the adoption of any amendment.

PART SIXTH.

R U L E S.

A R T I C L E I.

RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE GRAND LODGE.

RULE 1. None but members of the Grand Lodge, past or present officers of other Grand Lodges excepted, shall be present at the opening of the same, nor shall any visitor be admitted during the session, except by permission of the Grand Master.

2. All members and visitors shall keep the seats assigned them, except the Grand Marshal, and officers whose duties may call them about the Lodge.

3. All resolutions shall be submitted in writing, before there shall be any debate upon them ; as shall all motions, if the Grand Master, or any Brother, desire it.

4. All matters in Grand Lodge are to be decided by vote, each member having one vote, only, unless the question be taken by ballot, when, if he be entitled to two votes, he may give them. The Grand Master shall be entitled to one vote on all questions, and may also give the casting vote, whenever there shall be an equal division.

5. Each member shall vote on all questions, except where he is personally interested, unless specially excused by the Grand Lodge.

6. No Brother shall speak more than twice to the same question, unless in explanation, without permission of the Grand Master.

7. Every member who speaks shall rise, and remain standing, addressing himself to the Grand Master; nor shall any Brother presume to interrupt him, except on a point of order.

8. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received, except to amend, commit, lay upon the table, or adjourn.

9. A motion to amend, until decided, shall preclude all other amendments of the main question.

10. Any member may call for a division of the question, where the same will admit of it.

11. No new motion, which totally changes the subject matter on which the original motion was intended to operate, shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

12. No member, except one of the majority which decided the question, shall be allowed to move for a reconsideration.

13. After a motion is stated by the Grand Master, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Grand Lodge, but may be withdrawn by the mover at any time before decision or amendment.

14. There shall be no debate upon any question after it is put by the Grand Master.

15. All motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the Grand Lodge.

16. While the Grand Master is addressing the Grand Lodge, or putting a question, or a Brother is speaking, no member shall entertain any private discourse, nor pass between the speaker and the chair.

17. All communications, petitions, appeals, resolutions, propositions, and motions, shall be couched in decent and respectful language, or they shall not be entertained in Grand Lodge.

18. No Brother shall leave the Grand Lodge during the session, without permission of the Grand Master.

19. If any member shall have been twice called to order for transgressing these rules, and shall nevertheless be guilty of a third offence, at the same meeting, the Grand Master shall peremptorily command him to take his seat, and he shall not be permitted to speak again during that session of the Grand Lodge.

DEFINITIONS.

SEC. 1. Ample form. The Grand Lodge is declared to be opened in ample form when the Grand Master presides. In

2. Due Form—when the Deputy Grand Master presides. And in

3. Form—when it is opened in the absence of both the Grand Master and his Deputy.

4. Discharged Member. This term is applied to a member of a Lodge who has been discharged for non-payment of his quarterly dues, or other violation of the local rules of his Lodge.

5. Suspension. The suspension of a Brother excludes him from all his Masonic privileges, and prohibits all Masonic intercourse between him and his Brethren, during the time of his suspension.

6. Expulsion. This is the highest penalty that can be incurred, and the severest punishment that can be inflicted, for any violation of Masonic engagements. It excludes a Mason from all his Masonic rights and privileges forever, unless he be restored by the Grand Lodge. It ought never to be exercised but with extreme caution, and in cases where a lighter punishment would be of no avail.

7. Summons and Notification. These terms are used in the old regulations, and by many of the Grand Lodges in this country, synonymously. The Grand Lodge of Massachusetts makes the following distinctions :

A Notification—Is the notice by which the time, place and hour, (and frequently the business,) of the Lodge, are communicated to the members. This notice every Brother receiving it, is expected to obey, unless his doing so would materially interfere with his business engagements. The obligation which it imposes is a general one ; and the highest penalty incurred by a violation of it, is forfeiture of membership.

A Summons—Is a call of authority, a citation to appear and answer to the charges therein set forth. Or, it is an imperative injunction to appear at a special meeting of the Lodge, with which the Brother receiving it, is affiliated ; or to attend on the Grand Master, the District Deputy Grand Master, or any committee, or other body, authorized by the Grand Lodge to issue it. The obligation to obey it, is special and obligatory on every Brother receiving it. The penalty for its non-observance is expulsion ; unless the party offending, be able to urge a pressing and positive necessity for his excuse.

8. The Lodge. The term Lodge is generally understood to refer to the members of a particular Masonic association, or the place in which they meet. In a few of the States, it technically signifies the Ark of the Covenant, which is kept in the hall and frequently carried in public processions. In Massachusetts, however, and most of the other States, it means the flooring. The Ark is not used in our Lodges.

9. The Flooring, or Carpet, is a regularly arranged painting of the Masonic emblems on canvass. No Lodge should be without one.

10. The Trestle-Board, or Tracing-Board, "is for the Master to draw his designs upon," or it is the board on which the designs of the Master are already drawn. The term is frequently used synonymously with flooring and carpet.

FIRST GRAND MASTER OF MASONS IN AMERICA.

THE precise date of the first introduction of Freemasonry into America is not known. The earliest authentic record we have of its existence among us bears date 1733, though it was probably known and cultivated in several of the Colonies at a much earlier period. That there are no records in our archives of an earlier date than the year named, is fully accounted for by the circumstance that prior to the year 1717, Lodges were not required to keep records of their proceedings; nor were there then any Grand Lodges, or other governing body, to which, as under the present organization of the Institution, they were immediately responsible. Being without a supreme head, they were, under the restrictions of certain general laws and usages, independent associations, holding their meetings whenever and wherever the occasion required, and dissolving them again when the business of their assembling had been completed. The occasion made the Lodge; and it was composed, not as now, of particular Brethren, permanently associated for the purpose; but of such as might happen to be at the moment in the vicinity, and whose presence could readily be commanded. Hence there was no necessity for records. The business was, necessarily, mainly confined to initiations. If certificates were required, the presiding officer gave them; and that was the only record made that the meeting had ever been held. Of course there were some exceptions to this general practice. Lodges in certain localities were more permanently organized, and "general assemblies" were annually held. Of these some record was usually made. But it was not until the beginning of the last century, that the Fraternity were brought under any systematic and permanent form of government. In the year 1717, a new and better order of things was inaugurated by our English Brethren. A Grand Lodge was then organized on a fixed and permanent basis, and provision made for the future government of subordinate Lodges; which were thereafter to be formed and held only in certain localities and according to prescribed regulations. From this time records were kept, and the means of authenticating the existence and progress of the Institution, in this and all other civilized portions of the world, are certain and available.

We have said that the earliest record of Masonry in this country is dated in the year 1733. This is a Commission, or "Deputation," as it was then called, appointing the distinguished Brother whose name stands at the head of this sketch, "Provincial Grand Master for New England." It was granted by Lord MONTACUTE, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England, on the application of the appointee, "in behalf of himself and several other Brethren," then residing in New England. We have not the means at hand to determine who, or how many, these "other Brethren" were ; but the terms of the Commission leave no room to doubt that Masonry was previously cultivated, at least in the New England Colonies, and that it had then attained to sufficient numerical importance to require a governing head. The logical inference in the case is strengthened by the tradition, that the Brethren of that day had previously been accustomed to meet at private houses, or other convenient places, for the practice of the rites of their Order, under the loose usage and in the manner already described. But a new regulation having recently been enacted by competent authority, which deprived them of that privilege, their only alternative was to apply to the Grand Lodge at London for the necessary Warrants for their Lodges (which would be attended with great delay and expense), or for the appointment of an officer clothed with sufficient authority to meet the rapidly increasing demands of the Order in the Colonies. The latter course was adopted, and the result was the reception of the following Commission, which we take pleasure in laying before our readers, as the first document of the kind ever received in this country, and now for the first time put in print :—

Although this Commission was dated at London, on the 30th April, it was not probably received in this country earlier than the middle of the following July; from seventy to eighty days being at that time about an average passage between the two Continents. It would seem, therefore, that no time was lost in carrying the purposes of it into operation; for on the 30th July—just three months from the day of its date—the new Grand Master assembled the Brethren then residing in Boston, at the “Bunch of Grapes Tavern,” in King street, (corner of State and Kilby street,) and causing his “Deputation” to be read, he appointed and installed the R. W. Andrew Belcher, Dep. Grand Master; R. W. Thos. Kennelly, S. G. W.; and R. W. John Quann, J. G. W.; and thus formed and constituted the first Grand Lodge of Freemasons ever opened on the American Continent. Neither a Secretary nor Treasurer was appointed at this meeting, nor for some time after. Their duties seem to have been performed by the Grand Master. And such seems also to have been the case at the organization of the Grand Lodge of England; for it does not appear from any account of the early proceedings of that body, which has fallen under our notice, that any regular Secretary was appointed until 1722–3, when the office was filled by Wm. Cowper, Esq., (the poet); and it was not until 1738 that the office of Treasurer was created, as a distinct appointment,—the duties having previously been performed by the Secretary. In that year, says the record, “Brother Revis, Grand Secretary, declined accepting the office of Treasurer, as he judged the holding both was incompatible with each other.” It is very probable that Mr. Price, in making up his new Grand Lodge, may have appointed, temporarily, some minor officers of convenience, but their names are not given in the record.

The first business that came before the new Grand Lodge, was a Petition for a Lodge in Boston. It was presented on the same evening of the organization of the new body,—so anxious were the Brethren to begin at once the practice of their Masonic rites, in a legal and authorized manner,—and for which authority they had probably been patiently waiting for some months. The Petition was signed by eighteen Master Masons, and as it is the first document of the kind ever presented to an American Grand Lodge, and has never before been printed, we introduce it as appropriate in this connection:—

“To Rt. W. Brother Mr. HENRY PRICE, Deputed Provincial Grand Master of the Free and Accepted Masons of New England:

“The Humble Petition of the following subscribers, in behalf of themselves and the Wor. and Ancient Brotherhood belonging to the Society of Free and Accepted Masons now Residing in New England:

“Sheweth—That your Petitioners are very sensible of the Honour done to us here, by your said Deputation, and forasmuch as We are a sufficient number of Brethren, regularly made, and are now desirous of Enjoying each other, for Our Harmony, together, and Union, as well as Our Brethren that may at any time arrive here, or such as may be made Brothers hereafter, that is to say, in due Manner and Form. Therefore, We Request, as well in Our own Name and Names as in the Name and Names of all other Brethren it may Concern, That you will please to give the necessary Orders to all our Brethren within your Limits to give their due Attendance and Assistance in their several and Respective Capacities, towards Constituting a Regular Lodge this Evening, at the sign of the Bunch of Grapes, in King street, known by the name of the House of Mr. Edward Lutwych, or at any other place or places as Our said Right Worshipful Grand Master shall think proper, to be then and there held and Constituted, according to the Ancient Custom of Masons, and such Lodge to be held on every second and fourth Wednesday in each Month, for the Common Good of us and Brethren. Your Compliance herein, We doubt not, will Redound to the Honour of the Craft, and Encourage many worthy Gentlemen to become Brethren and Fellows of this Right Worshipful and Ancient society, and your Brethren and Petitioners shall ever Pray.

Dated at Boston, in New England, July 30th, 1733, 5733.

This Petition having been read in open Grand Lodge, “the prayer thereof” was promptly granted, and the new Grand Master forthwith proceeded—or in the words of the record—“did then and there, in the most solemn manner, according to ancient rite and custom, and the form prescribed in our Book of Constitutions, constitute us (the petitioners) into a regular Lodge, in manner and form. Upon which we immediately proceeded, by our said Grand Master’s order, to choose a Master, and unanimously chose our Wor. Brother HENRY HOPE, Esq., Master of this our new constituted Lodge, who then nomiinated and appointed our Wor. Brethren Mr. Frederick Hamilton and Mr. James Gordon, his Wardens ; to which all the Brethren unanimously concurred, paying the usual respects to our said R. W. Grand Master, who caused them be duly examined, and being found well qualified, approved and confirmed them in their several stations, by Investing them with the Implements of their office, giving each his particular Charge, and admonishing the Brethren of the Lodge to due obedience and submission according to the Printed Book of Constitutions, Charges and Regulations, &c." And thus was the first regular Lodge in America constituted—July 30, 1733,—and, in the words of the record—"Thus was Masonry founded in New England." The new Lodge was known and designated as the "First Lodge in Boston," up to the union of the two Grand Lodges of Massachusetts, in 1792 ; when it took the name and title of "St. John's Lodge," which it still worthily bears,—rejoicing in the vigor of youth, the honor of age, and the experience of nearly a century and a half. It is the oldest subordinate Lodge on the Western Continent. It does not appear that any written Charter or Warrant was issued to the petitioners, nor did they ask for such a document in their petition. Warrants for holding Lodges were at that day almost a novelty even in Europe, and entirely so in this country. The regulation requiring them, as a condition-precedent to the holding of a Lodge, was then but of about seventeen years standing, and had not become the universal practice of the Brotherhood even on the European Continent. The petitioners, therefore, most of whom had probably been made Masons under the old regulation, simply asked, in the language of the Commission of their new Grand Master, to be "constituted a regular Lodge"—deeming, and with sufficient reason, such a constitution by the Grand Master, and in the presence of the Grand Lodge duly assembled, ample authority for all the purposes contemplated by their organization. Nor was there, under the circumstances,—working as they were, under the eye and frequently in the immediate presence of the Grand Lodge,—any absolute necessity for written evidence of their legality,—and such only is the purpose of a Charter or Warrant. After the union of the two Grand Lodges in 1792, this Lodge took out a Charter from the present Grand Lodge of the State, under the name and style of St. John's Lodge, but retaining its original rank and precedence.

We have dwelt with some particularity upon the establishment of this Lodge, because it was the first official act of our distinguished first Grand Master. During the four years of his presidency, he established three other Lodges, two of which were in distant Provinces. The first Warrant he issued, was for a Lodge in Philadelphia, called in the records, "The First Lodge in Pennsylvania." The authority for it was granted to his intimate personal friend and Brother, BENJ. FRANKLIN, who was its first Master. The Warrant bears date June 24, 1734. On the same day and year, he also granted a Warrant for "The Holy Lodge of St. John," at Portsmouth, in New Hampshire; and on the 27th December, 1735, he issued his Warrant for the establishment of "The First Lodge in South Carolina," at Charleston. Two of these Lodges were out of New England, and therefore beyond the original jurisdiction of the Grand Master. And in explanation of this, it is proper here to state, that early in the year 1734, he had received authority from the Grand Lodge of England, to establish Masonry in all North America ; or, in other terms, he had been appointed Prov. Grand Master for the whole Continent ; as were also his two immediate successors, Robert Tomlinson, in 1736, and Thos. Oxnard, in 1742.

“ Nothing further remarkable happened” during the first year of Mr. Price’s administration ; “ only,” says the record, “ the celebration of the anniversary of St. John the Evangelist, after the manner of Masons, when our Rt. Wor. Bro. Mr. Jas. Gordon, was chosen Master of the Lodge.”* To this entry is added the quaint remark—“ Masonry caused great speculation in these Days in New England to the great Vulgar and small ;” and we apprehend the family is not yet wholly extinct ! But however this may be, our Brother continued actively engaged in the discharge of his official duties, and in establishing the Institution on a firm and proper basis in the Colonies, until 1737, when he resigned, and the R. W. Robert Tomlinson was commissioned by the Earl of Loudon, then Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England, as his successor. But he did not cease his active Masonic labors, nor withdraw the support of his counsel and influence from his Brethren. These were ever at their command, as were also his personal services, whenever they were required by, or could be used for, the promotion of the interests of the Institution. And hence we find him on several occasions, in later years, temporarily occupying the Chair and discharging the duties of Grand Master, with all the zeal and fidelity and intelligence that characterized his earlier connection with the Grand Lodge. Nor were his labors confined to that body.

* “ The Lodge” here referred to, was the “ First Lodge.” And it is worthy of notice in this connection, that the celebration of the two great festivals of Masonry (June 24 and Dec. 27,) was never neglected by our Brethren at that early period of our history. They made it a matter of duty, as well as of pleasure, to come together on both festivals. And though the practice has not been wholly abandoned since, by the Grand Lodge of this State, the festivals have lost much of their original attractiveness.

In or about the year 1738,—doubtless mainly through the active instrumentality of Mr. Price,—a body, called a “Masters’ Lodge,” was organized in Boston, to meet monthly. Its officers consisted of a Master, two Wardens, two Stewards, a Secretary and Tyler,—the Senior Steward was also the Treasurer. The work of the Lodge was exclusively restricted to the conferring of the Master’s degree, on Brethren who had received the two preceding degrees in some one of the other Lodges then existing in the Colony, and whose work was confined to the first and second degrees.* The rule that governed the admission of candidates for the Master’s degree, is so pregnant with good sense and so conformable to correct Masonic usage, that we transcribe it for the information,—we wish we could say, for the government,—of those to whom the control of our Lodges is committed at the present time. It is in the following words—“No Brother to be raised Master, unless he goes through the Fellow-Craft's work to the approbation of this Lodge, and such examination to be performed on the Lodge-night before such candidate is to be balloted for and raised—always reserving an unanimous vote of the Lodge to the contrary. And such candidate to pay forty shillings into the hands of the Sen. Steward.” Under such a regulation, the efficiency of our Lodges, if not the number of our members, might be improved, even at this day ; and we are quite certain that our new initiates would not appreciate the value of the degrees any the less on account of the increased difficulty in obtaining them.

But to return to the Lodge. Brother Price was its first Master, and continued to occupy the Chair and perform the laborious duties of that office, until 1744, when he resigned ; and it is worthy of note, as showing his constant activity and devotion to its interests, that during the whole time of his presidency, he was but once absent from his post of duty. On that occasion some members assembled as usual, but did not open the Lodge. The record of the evening reads as follows—“No meeting this night, our Rt. W. M. and several of the members being out of Town on extraordinary business.” He was succeeded as Master by Bro. Robt. Jenkins, who had previously filled the chair of the Sen. Warden. Still we find our Brother present at nearly every meeting of the Lodge, and frequently acting as Master protem, until 1749; when he was again elected to the office, and held it until the "next time of choosing," when he was succeeded by Bro. Charles Brockwell.* In 1750, he was elected Treasurer of the Lodge,—being the first election of such an officer; the duty having, previously, been performed by the Sen. Steward. He held this office three years, when he resigned, and was soon after (July 1754) called to resume the office of Grand Master, in consequence of the death of the M. W. Thos. Oxnard. He did not, however, relinquish any of his interest in the Masters' Lodge, and we accordingly find him present at every meeting during the whole time he was exercising the duties of Grand Master; and at the very first meeting, after the vacancy in Grand Lodge had been filled by the appointment of the M. W. Jeremy Gridley, to the Grand Mastership, he was for the third time (1755) elected Master. He held the office, however, but for a few meetings, when he resigned in favor of Brother Richard Gridley (afterwards G. M.); but at the expiration of Bro. Gridley's term of service, he was for the fourth time elected to the Chair, and served for several years. When it is considered that this was eminently a working Lodge, nothing need be added to the facts here given, to show the untiring devotion of our Brother to the interests of Masonry, at this its earliest, and therefore weakest, period of existence on this Continent. But if anything further be needed for this purpose, it can be only necessary to say, that he was also a member of the "First Lodge," and gave to it his active services and co-operation. In 1766, on the death of the M. W. Jeremy Gridley, he was again called to the Chair of the Grand Lodge, which he occupied until a successor was appointed in 1768.* From this time forward to the beginning of the agitations preceding the revolution, we find his name recorded in Grand Lodge at nearly every communication, and almost always as filling some responsible position. During the war, the meetings of the Grand Lodge were temporarily suspended, and our Brother removed from the city. His name appears for the last time, in the records of that body, in 1774.

*The Master, as was the ancient custom, and still is in England, appointed his own Wardens and other officers.

We have but little space for the personal history of Mr. Price, even if the materials for an extended notice were at our command. He was born in London, about the year 1697, and came to America about 1723, and settled in Boston, where he opened a store and commenced business, it is believed, at first under his own name, though in 1744 he was the junior partner of the firm of Beteilhe & Price; and was probably in the Dry Goods

* Our Brother resumed the office on the 23d Oct., 1767. R. W. Hugh McDaniel presided as D. G. M., and having invested him with the Jewel of his office, addressed him as follows:—

“ You (to the satisfaction of all the Lodges) have had the honor of first introducing Masonry into these parts of the world, and intentionally, for the good of Masonry, have resigned the Chair of Grand Master to three successors, whom Providence has deprived us of; particularly, of our late worthy Grand Master, Jeremy Gridley, Esq. And as you have supplied the vacancies of all three, according to our Constitutions, I now invest you again with the Jewel of Grand Master, and give you possession of Solomon’s Chair, until the vacancy is otherwise supplied; and hope it will be to your satisfaction, and to the Lodges here, and all other Lodges under this jurisdiction; and now I congratulate you, with all our Brethren, on your resumption of this high dignity.”

trade. That he was successful in business, is presumable from the fact, that he was able to support a "country house" at Menotomy (W. Cambridge), where he resided during the Summer, living in town in the Winter season.* He seems to have had some taste for the military profession, and was appointed in 1733, Cornet in the Governor's Guards, with the rank of Major,—a fact of some interest as indicating his social position in the community; for it is not to be supposed that an appointment of so much "aristocratic dignity," (as at that day military rank in the "Governor's Troop" was esteemed to be), would have been conferred upon him, had his social relations not been of a corresponding grade. About the year 1774, he relinquished business in the city and retired to his farm in Townsend; which place he afterwards represented in the General Court.

He died in Townsend, "in the sear and yellow leaf" of life,—leaving to his children the odour of a good name, and to his Masonic Brethren the example of a true and consistent Mason. His death occurred on the 20th May, 1780, and his remains were deposited in the public burial ground of that place. His tomb-stone bears the following inscription :—

* On the 12th April, 1751, the Grand Lodge voted to celebrate the ensuing St. John's Day at "Brother Price's house, at Menotomy." But when the day arrived, "Brother Price's house at Menotomy, being incumber'd by sickness," the celebration took place at "the house of Mr. Richardson, in Cambridge."

Mr. Price was probably twice married; but of his first marriage we are wholly ignorant. It does not appear, however, that he left any children, the issue of that connection. His second wife was the widow Lydia Abbot, of Townsend, whom he seems to have married late in life; probably after leaving Boston, in 1774. As the fruit of this marriage, he had the two "young daughters" referred to in the above inscription. Their names were Mary and Rebecca; one of whom married a Mr. Wallace, of Townsend; a son of whom, namely, Mr. William Wallace, is still living and resides at that place. Mrs. Abbot, at the time of her marriage with Mr. Price, had two children by her former husband. These composed his whole family at his decease. He left a Will, by which, after providing for the payment of his just debts and making suitable provision for his widow, he distributed the remainder of his property in about equal proportions among the four surviving children. The executors of the Will were Brother Samuel Dana, (afterwards Judge Dana,) of Groton, and Mr. Jonathan Wallace, of Townsend. As indicating, in some sense, the Christian faith and reliance of our Brother on Divine Providence, we give the preamble of the Will,—being the only portion of it that would be of interest to the reader:—

"In the name of God. Amen.

"I, Henry Price, of Townsend, in the County of Middlesex and State of Massachusetts Bay, in New England, Esq. Being weak in body, but of sound and perfect memory, do make this my last Will and testimony, that is to say: Principally and first of all, I recommend my soul unto the hands of God that gave it and my body to the earth, to be buried in a Christian-like and decent manner, at the discretion of my executors, and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life withal, I give, devise and dispose of the same in manner and form following."

An original *Portrait of our Brother, taken when he was about forty years of age, or about the time he was first appointed Grand Master, has recently been found in the possession of one of his descendants, by whom it has been presented to the Grand Lodge ; and having been repaired and richly and tastefully embellished, now adorns the hall usually occupied by that body. It is a valuable acquisition, and will doubtless be carefully preserved, and transmitted to many future generations, to perpetuate the memory of this " fine old English gentleman,"—the Father of Freemasonry in America.

JOSEPH WARREN, Esq.

FIRST GRAND MASTER OF THE "MASSACHUSETTS GRAND LODGE,"

ABOUT the year 1756, certain Brethren, calling themselves Ancient Masons,* petitioned Lord Aberdour, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, for a warrant to open and hold a Lodge in the town of Boston. This petition was favored by some Scotch Brethren, and having, probably through their influence, received the recommendation of the Lodge at Falkirk in Scotland, the prayer of the petitioners was granted, and the new Lodge was established under the name of "The Lodge of St. Andrew, No. 82." But St. John's Grand Lodge,

*The origin of the words ancient and modern, as terms of Masonic distinction, was briefly as follows:—About the year 1738, the Grand Lodge at London refused to confer the second and third degrees upon certain persons who had been initiated in one of the metropolitan Lodges, not deeming them worthy of further advancement. This gave offence to the Lodge, the result of which was that it assumed to give the degrees itself; thus setting at defiance the authority of the Grand Lodge. The irregularity continuing, and the recusants increasing in numbers, that body took the matter seriously in hand, and in order to cut off all intercourse between the schismatics and the regular Lodges, imprudently consented to a slight, if not wholly unimportant, change in conceiving that its jurisdiction had been infringed upon by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, refused any communications or visits from such members of St. Andrew's Lodge, as had not formerly sat in their Lodges." It is not necessary here to inquire into the propriety of this refusal, or to discuss the jurisdictional rights of the Grand Lodge of Scotland in the British Provinces, they having long since been conceded to be co-ordinate with those of the Grand Lodge of England. The consequence of the refusal, however, was that St. Andrew's Lodge united with two other Lodges, attached to the British regiments then stationed in Boston, petitioned the Right Hon. George, Earl of Dalhousie, Grand Master of Masons in Scotland, and from him received a commission, or "deputation," bearing date the 30th May, 1769, "appointing JOSEPH WARREN, Esq. Grand Master of Masons in Boston, New England, and within one hundred miles of the same."

the ritual. The recusants eagerly took advantage of this—charged the Grand Lodge with making innovations on the ancient forms of the Order, and denounced that body and all connected with it, as modern Masons; appropriating to themselves the appellation, and claiming to be the only ancient Masons in the metropolis. They met with encouragement among certain classes, and finally organized a body which they called a Grand Lodge of Ancient Masons, and succeeded, through false representations, in inducing the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland to recognize it. This gave them importance and confirmed the schism, which was not healed until the year 1813. It also enabled the spurious body to establish Lodges abroad; but between them and the Lodges recognizing the authority of the regular Grand Lodge of England, there was no intercourse, and hardly any fraternal sympathy; and as the Grand Lodges of Ireland and Scotland had, in effect, sided with the recusants, they, with their Lodges and members, were naturally regarded with feelings of coldness and indifference by their English Brethren. Hence the original petition for a Scotch Lodge in Boston.

This commission was not probably received in the Provinces until some months after its date. The first notice we find of it, was "at the assembly and feast held at Boston, in New England, at Mason's Hall, (in the Green Dragon Tavern,) on Wednesday, Dec. 27th, 1769;" at which were present, the M. W. Joseph Warren, Esq. Grand Master elect; the Master, Wardens and Brethren of St. Andrew's Lodge; the Master and Wardens of Lodge No. 58, of the Registry of England; and the Master and Wardens of Lodge 322, of the Registry of Ireland,"—being the three petitioning Lodges. The last two were army Lodges. At this meeting, the commission having been read, the Brethren proceeded, in ample form, to install the M. W. JOSEPH WARREN, Grand Master of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, in Boston, &c. After which the following Brethren were nominated by the M. W. Grand Master, and unanimously elected Grand Officers, for the year ensuing, viz:—

" Jeremiah French, Esq, Capt. in the 29th Regt.,	S. G. W.
Ponsonby Molesworth, do.	do. J. G. W.
William Palfrey, (by proxy,) - - - -	G. Sec.
Thomas Crafts, - - - -	G. Treas.
Joseph Webb, - - - -	G. Mar.
Paul Revere, - - - -	S. G. D.
Samuel Danforth, - - - -	J. G. D.
Thos. Urann, - - - -	S. G. S.
Caleb Hopkins, - - - -	J. G. S.
Edward Proctor, - - - -	G. Sw. B."

And thus was formed the second Grand Lodge on the American Continent. Like the first, it was a provincial Grand Lodge, and, to a limited extent, amenable for its acts, to the body from which it derived its authority. Both these Grand Lodges were invested with power to establish Lodges, and to make laws for their government, and to do and perform all such matters and things as were necessary for the advancement and welfare of the Order in the Colonies.

The second meeting of the new Grand Lodge was held on the 12th January 1770 ; but no business appears to have been transacted, except resolving that the regular quarterly communications of the Grand Lodge should be held on the first Fridays in March, June, September and December. The third meeting (which may be called the first quarterly meeting,) was accordingly held on the 2d of March 1770, when a committee was appointed "to prepare a body of laws for the regulation of the Grand Lodge." But the most important subject which came before the meeting, was "a petition from Brothers Phillip Marett,* Andrew Fan Phillips, John Fletcher, Andrew Gidding, George Brown, David Parker, Barrett Harkin and Epes Sargent, Jr., Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, resident in Gloucester, New England, dated Feb. 23d, 1770, praying for a dispensation, to be erected into a regular Lodge"—which being read, it was "voted, that a dispensation be granted said Brethren, they obliging themselves to pay such fees for the same as shall hereafter be stipulated by the Grand Lodge,—the said Lodge to be called by the name of the Tyrian Lodge." This Lodge, like the first established by the St. John's Grand Lodge, is still in existence, and in the enjoyment of a vigorous prosperity. And it may not be out of place here to remark, that up to this period—when it was thenceforth to share its privileges and labors with another—St. John's Grand Lodge had issued warrants for the establishment of thirtyseven Lodges, viz: in Massachusetts 6; Maine 2; New Hampshire 1; Rhode Island 3; Connecticut 7; New York 3; New Jersey 2; Pennsylvania 1; Maryland 1; Virginia 1; North Carolina 1; South Carolina 1; Canada 1; Nova Scotia 3; New Foundland 1; West Indies 3. These statistics indicate, with sufficient exactness, the progress of the Institution in the Colonies, during the preceding thirty-seven years, and its condition at the date of the establishment of the second Grand Lodge in Massachusetts. Lodges had, in a few instances, been established in some of the other Colonies, under authority emanating from other sources; but the number was comparatively small.

The second warrant issued by the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, was granted on the 13th May 1770, on the petition of Brothers Joseph Tyler, Wm. Palfrey, James Jackson, John Hill, John Jeffries, Nath. Cudworth, Isaac Rand and Joshua Loring, for the establishment of the Massachusetts Lodge, in Boston. A division arose among the members of Grand Lodge on the presentation of this petition, as to the necessity for another Lodge in the town; but the warrant was finally granted, by a vote of eight to four—the Grand Master and Grand Secretary, (the latter one of the petitioners,) not voting. The Lodge is still in active existence, and the establishment of it seems not to have been productive of the inconveniences anticipated. Nor do all the Brethren appear to have regarded the field as yet fully occupied; for at the following June communication, a petition was presented for another Lodge in Boston. It was however promptly rejected by the Grand Lodge; as were several other similar petitions for Lodges in other parts of the Colony; an increase of the present number of Lodges being thought to be "totally unnecessary."

At the annual communication of the Grand Lodge in Dec. 1771, the Grand Master announced the appointment of the R. W. Joseph Webb, as his Deputy, and submitted to the body the question—"Whether the Grand Master has a right to nominate his Wardens?" The question was decided in the affirmative. What gave rise to the inquiry does not appear; but it was probably thought by some of the Brethren, that as the power was not expressly delegated in the commission of the Grand Master, he was exceeding his authority in exercising it. The matter was, however, disposed of in accordance with the ancient usage of the Institution, and the practice of the parent Grand Lodge; which body had, ten years previously, recognized the right of the Grand Master to nominate his successor; who, on such nomination, (made one year before the election,) "received the appellation of Grand Master elect." The Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, printed in 1804, provides that a "Provincial Grand Master shall be at liberty to choose two Brethren to be his Wardens, and a Secretary; all of whom must be Master Masons." And this was probably the regulation under which Gen. Warren was appointed, and held his commission.

At the quarterly communication of the Grand Lodge, on the 6th March, 1772, a petition was received "from Thomas Parsons, Wm. Greenough, Thos. Jones, Jonathan Boardman, Isaac Walker, Moses Brown, Simon Greenleaf, and Nathl. Nowell, Free and Accepted Masons, resident in Newburyport, praying they might be erected into a new Lodge by the name of St. Peter's Lodge." These petitioners were all of high respectability, and the prayer of the petition was promptly granted. We regret to add that this Lodge is not now in existence; and this regret is increased by the consideration that has led us to notice its organization, as well as that of the Tyrian and Massachusetts Lodges, more in detail than we should have otherwise deemed necessary, or appropriate, in this sketch; namely, that to these three Lodges were granted the only Charters issued by, or that bear the signature of our illustrious Brother and Grand Master JOSEPH WARREN. For this reason we could have wished that they might have been permitted to continue a living trio, to transmit through many coming generations, the gratifying evidence they afford of the relation that our lamented Brother held to the Masonic Institution, and the lively interest he manifested in its early establishment on this continent.*

It does not appear that our Brother was called upon, in his capacity of Grand Master, to perform any act of particular importance, or out of the common course of duty, during the remainder of his official term; except that on the 27th December 1773, he caused to be read in Grand Lodge, a new commission which he had some time before received, from the Earl of Dumfries, Grand Master of Masons in Scotland, dated March 3, 1772, appointing him "Grand Master of Masons for the Continent of America;" and as such, he was forthwith duly installed and saluted, according to ancient usage. We notice, however, one or two entries in the records of this period, which are so significant of the interest many of the more active and distinguished officers of the Grand Lodge took in the "stirring events" of the day, that we need offer no apology for introducing them in this connection. The first reads as follows (under date June 4, 1773):—"The Grand Lodge being opened, and the Grand Master observing but few Grand Officers present, was acquainted of their necessary engagement in another society." Among the absentees was Col. Paul Revere, the friend of Warren, Hancock, and Adams, and one of the most active patriots of the Revolution, and a member of "another society" known as "the committee of public safety." He was Junior Grand Warden. Col. Joseph Webb, the Deputy G. Master, was also absent. He was an officer in the revolutionary army, having taken an active part in all the movements preceding the war. Again.—In September of the same year, the record says—"The Grand Lodge did not proceed to business, on account of the fewness of members." Colonel Revere, and several of the same parties as before, were again absent,—probably at that "other society," whose meetings were doubtless very frequent, and the business before them very urgent! June 3, 1774, we find the following entry:—"Motioned, seconded and voted, this Grand Lodge be adjourned to Tuesday evening next, 7 o'clock; by reason of the few Grand Officers present; engaged in consequential Public Business." Doubtless another meeting of that "other society!" But Grand Master Warren was himself absent this time,—perhaps in pursuit of his truant Deputy, Webb, and his Senior G. Deacon, Revere! If so, we dare say he found them!—and most probably in some retired room in the "Green Dragon Tavern," where his Grand Lodge usually held its sessions, and which place had the reputation of being a favorite resort for certain "rebellious spirits!" The same parties were again absent at the September meeting, and the faithful Secretary makes the following record—"The Members of this Grand Lodge being necessarily prevented from giving their attendance this evening, no regular Lodge could be held. Therefore adjourned to Wednesday evening, the 7th inst." Brother Thomas Urann, Past Master, presided for the purpose of adjournment. It must indeed have been pressing business that called all the officers from their places in Grand Lodge! But, then, the times were pressing, and the "public business," we are told by our Brother the Secretary, was "consequential!"

The last meeting of the Grand Lodge, at which our Brother presided as Grand Master, was held at Masons' Hall, in the Green Dragon Tavern, on Friday, March 3d, 1775. The business being over, the Grand Lodge "was closed to the first Friday in June." But that June meeting was never held. At the bottom of the page on which the proceedings of the March communication are recorded, we find the following entry:—

Memo.—19th April, 1775. Hostilities commenced between the Troops of Great Britain and America, in Lexington Battle.

In consequence of which the Town was Blockaded, and no Lodge held until December, 1776."

The Brethren of the Grand Lodge, when they closed their meeting on the 3d March, did not anticipate that they had met their beloved Grand Master, in his official capacity, for the last time,—that he had laid aside his Jewel, never again to be resumed on earth. But such was the will of God! He had presided over them for more than five years, guiding them by his wisdom and sustaining them by his example. He had rarely been absent from his post of duty. Even amid the exciting scenes in which he took so active a part, and in which his whole soul was absorbed, he did not forget his Brethren, or neglect his duty as their Grand Master. Of the forty communications of his Grand Lodge, he was present and presided at thirtyseven! A rare instance of fidelity to duty, evincive alike of his love for the Institution and of his devotion to its interests. Nor were his Masonic labors confined to his Grand Lodge. He was an efficient member of St. Andrew's Lodge, and took an active part in all its proceedings. It was his Alma Mater; and as such, he was ever zealous to defend its honor and promote its welfare. In it, he was initiated on the 10th of September 1761—took the second degree on the 2d November following, and the third, on the 28th November 1765. Having served it in a variety of relations, he was elected its Worshipful Master in 1769. But in consequence of his appointment, in that year, to the Prov. Grand Mastership, he seems not to have entered upon the active duties of the office. He was made a Royal Arch Mason in the "Royal Arch Lodge," attached to St. Andrew's Lodge, on the 14th of May, 1770.

Our Brother was born in Roxbury, Mass., on the 11th June, 1741, and graduated at Harvard College in 1759, and taught school one year in his native town. He studied medicine under Dr. James Lloyd, and in a few years became one of the most eminent physicians in Boston. "But," says a recent writer, "his mind would not allow him to follow quietly his professional duties. He was an ardent lover of his country, and felt that the oppressions under which she groaned, must be met with open and determined resistance. He was bold and decided—and when he had once carved out a path for himself, he unhesitatingly followed it. He proclaimed against every species of taxation, external or internal, direct or indirect, and expressed his belief that America could not only talk but fight—and with success—whatever the force sent against her. From 1768, he was a principal member of a secret caucus in Boston, which exerted very great influence upon the political affairs of the country. It was through his means that Hancock and Adams* were seasonably advertised of their danger, while at Lexington, on the evening of the 18th of April.† Four days previous to the battle of Bunker's heights, he received his commission of Major-General.‡ He was within the entrenchment on the memorable 17th

* Hancock was a member of the Masonic Fraternity; and it is believed Adams was also, though he seems not to have been active in its offices.

June, and was killed just at the commencement of the retreat. His death shed a gloom throughout the community ; for he was exceedingly beloved by all classes, for the mildness and affability of his deportment, and the virtues of his private life. As a statesman, he was able and judicious—as an orator, eloquent—as a man, of uncompromising integrity and undaunted bravery—and the first officer of rank who fell in the contest with Great Britain. The glory of Bunker-Hill is interwoven with the reputation of Major General Warren.”

“ Gen. Warren,” says the eloquent Botta, “ was one of those men, who are more attached to liberty than to existence, but no more ardently the friend of freedom than the foe of avarice and ambition. He was endowed with a solid judgment, a happy genius, and a brilliant eloquence. In all private affairs, his opinion was reputed authority, and in all public councils, a decision.” * * * “ Though in his person somewhat spare, his figure was peculiarly agreeable.” * * * “ He mourned, at this epoch, the recent loss of a wife, by whom he was tenderly beloved, and whom he cherished with reciprocal affection. In dying so gloriously for his country on this memorable day, he left several orphans, still in childhood ; but a grateful country assumed the care of their education.”*

To the Masonic Fraternity his death was a serious misfortune. Being deprived of its lawful head, doubts

* He married Elizabeth, daughter of Dr. Richard Hooton, of Boston, Sept. 1, 1764 ; by whom he had four children, namely, Joseph, Richard, Elizabeth and Mary. The Lodges in the State contributed liberally to their immediate necessities, soon after the death of the father.

arose respecting the nature of the powers of the Grand Lodge, and of its legal ability to continue to discharge the functions of its creation. But the first great care of the Brethren was the recovery of the remains of their beloved Grand Master.* Waving all other considerations, as of minor importance, they availed themselves of the earliest moment, after the evacuation of the town by the British troops (March 17, 1776,) to go in search of the body, which, in the hurry and bustle of the fight, had been indiscriminately buried on the field of battle. They repaired to the hill (April 8, 1776,) and by direction of a person who was on the ground at the time of its burial, a spot was discovered where the earth had been recently turned up. On removing the turf and opening the grave, (which was near the brow, on the northern declivity of the hill, and by a small cluster of springs,) the remains

* It would seem from the following report, adopted by the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts, April 4, 1776, that that body also had the same purpose in contemplation, together with the erection of a monument to the memory of their late beloved associate; but that, in deference to the prior movement of his Masonic Brethren, they consented to defer their action until a more convenient opportunity. The report is as follows:—

“April 4, 1776.

“The Committee appointed to take under consideration the erecting a monument to the memory of the Honorable Major-General JOSEPH WARREN, beg leave to report, that they have attended to that service, and find that the place where his body was buried is discovered, and that the Lodge of Freemasons in this Colony, whereof he was late Grand Master, are desirous of taking up the deceased's remains, and, in the usual funeral solemnities of that society, to decently inter the same, and that his friends are consenting thereto. Wherefore, your Committee are of opinion that the said Lodge have leave to put their said intentions into execution, in such a manner as that the government of this Colony may hereafter have an opportunity to erect a monument to the memory of that worthy, valiant, and patriotic American.

were discovered.* They were in a mangled condition, but were easily identified from the circumstance that the left upper cuspidatus, or eye-tooth, had been secured in its place by a golden wire. Having raised it, the body was conveyed, with proper respect and solemnity, to the State House (at the head of State street,) in Boston. From thence it was taken by a large concourse of Masonic Brethren, with the Grand Officers attending in procession, to King's Chapel, where an impressive and eloquent eulogium was pronounced by the R. W. Br. Hon. PEREZ MORTON, afterwards Solicitor-General of the State, and the personal friend and associate of the deceased. The remains were then deposited in the tomb of George Richards Minot, Esq., a friend of the family.†

*The spot is now (1857) marked by an appropriate granite slab, bearing a suitable inscription.

†The late Dr. John C. Warren—nephew of the General—in his genealogy of the family, published in 1854, has the following; from which it would seem that the remains were three times buried, viz,—first on Bunker Hill; secondly, in the Granary Burial-ground; and, thirdly, under St. Paul's Church, with a monumental inscription to mark the place of their final deposit. Dr. Warren says:—

"In 1825, when the foundation of Bunker Hill Monument was laid, it was thought proper to discover, identify, and preserve them (the remains); but, those who were concerned in the ceremonies of 1776, having passed off the stage, the last place of deposit had been forgotten, and was unknown. After a long search, in which the writer had an opportunity of recognizing the relics of the amiable though unfortunate author of the war, Major Pitcairn, the lost remains were discovered in the Minot Tomb, in the Granary Burying-ground. They were recognized by the condition of the eye-tooth above mentioned, and the mark of the fatal bullet behind the left ear; were carefully collected, deposited in a box of hard wood, designated by a silver plate, and placed in the Warren Tomb in St. Paul's Church, Boston. The following inscription was affixed:—

But these ceremonies were not sufficient to satisfy the Brethren. They felt that they were all right and proper, so far as they went ; but that something of a more permanent and enduring character, was demanded to mark to future time, their love and veneration for the memory of their honored Brother and Grand Master. The patriotic duty and the honor of supplying this want,

MAJOR GENERAL JOSEPH WARREN,

We learn that an interesting relic of Gen. Warren, recovered at his death, exists in the hands of his relatives, the history of which is given in the same genealogical record, as follows :—

"In the year 1776, one year after the battle of Bunker Hill, the historian, Dr. Gordon, of Roxbury, received a curious, ancient, small book of Psalms, from an English clergyman. The edition (one of the earliest translations of any part of the Bible) was executed during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and printed at Geneva. The typography is very fine, The binding is in a beautiful and peculiar style, being composed of goat skin, studded over with gilt fleurs-de-lis, and is in every part still perfect. The book is about three by four inches. It contains two inscriptions; one on the first blank leaf as follows :—'North America. Taken at the Battle of Bunker's Hill, June 17th, 1775, out of Dr. WARREN's pocket.' Another inscription, on the back of the title-page, informs us that it was purchased of a private, engaged in the battle of Bunker Hill, by an English clergyman, Dr. SAMUEL WILTON, who gave ten times its value, lest, as he says, 'it should be exhibited in triumph, as the spoil of a Presbyterian rebel.' Dr. Wilton sent it to Dr. Gordon, with the request, that it should be delivered to surviving relatives, if any there were. Dr. Wilton died within three months after. Dr. Gordon faithfully executed the commission, consigning the book to Dr. John Warren, (Brother of the deceased), from whom it passed into the hands of (his son) the present possessor, Dr. John Collins Warren."

were reserved for KING SOLOMON'S LODGE, in Charlestown.* And in November, 1794, that Lodge appointed a committee "to erect such a Monument in Mr. Russell's Pasture (Bunker Hill)—provided the land can be procured—as in their opinion will do honor to the Lodge, in memory of our late Brother, the M. W. JOSEPH WARREN." The committee were so active in accomplishing the patriotic object of their appointment, that in the following month of December, a special meeting of the Lodge was called to hear their report. There was, says the record, "a general attendance of the members, together with a large and respectable number of visiting Brethren. The Lodge having been regularly opened, Brother Josiah Bartlett,† the chairman of the committee, submitted the following report:—

"The committee appointed to erect a Monument to the memory of the late M. W. JOSEPH WARREN, beg leave to report—That they first waited upon the Hon. James Russell, for his permission to proceed; and that he generously offered a deed of as much land as might be necessary for the purpose. They then proceeded to erect a Tuscan Pillar, which is eighteen feet high, placed upon a platform eight feet high, eight feet square, and fenced round to protect it from injury. On the top of the Pillar is placed a gilt urn, with the initials and age of Dr. Warren, enclosed in the square and compasses. On the south-west side of the pedestal is the following inscription in stone:—‡

*This Lodge was chartered by the "Massachusetts Grand Lodge," established by Gen. Warren, though the Charter was not granted until after his death, viz., Sept. 5, 1783.

† Dr. Josiah Bartlett, Grand Master in 1797.

‡ We also give a drawing of the Monument, taken from the original.

AND HIS ASSOCIATES,

who were slain on this memorable spot, June 17, 1775.

offspring want valor to repel the assaults of her invaders.'
Charlestown settled 1623; burnt 1775; rebuilt 1776.
The enclosed land given by Hon. James Russell."

"The committee beg leave to recommend, that the R. W. Master be directed to obtain of Mr. Russell, a deed of the land ; and to petition the General Court (through the Representative of the town,) to confirm the grant of the land to the Lodge, and to authorize him, and his successors, to sue for damages, or otherwise punish, any person, or persons, who may destroy or injure the Monument. They further recommend, that the Monument be placed under the immediate care of the Master and Wardens for the time being, whose business it shall be to visit the spot as often as occasion may require, and to keep it in complete repair, at the expense of the Lodge forever."

This report having been unanimously adopted, it was "voted, that the Lodge proceed, this day, to Dedicate the Monument, which, by the report of their committee, hath been erected." This was accordingly done. At two o'clock in the afternoon, a procession was formed at Warren Hall, where the Lodge then met, consisting of "the members of the Lodge, and other Brethren,—the Magistrates, Selectmen, Minister and Deacons, Town Treasurer, and Clerk, the Parish Officers, Officers of the Artillery Company, Militia Officers, citizens who have borne Military commissions, and the Trustees and Scholars of the Public Schools." The procession, preceded by a band of music, moved "in solemn silence, to the hill, where a circle was formed round the Pillar," and where an appropriate and solemn dedicatory address was delivered by the Worshipful Master of the Lodge, Brother JOHN SOLEY, Jr.* "Not content," said the speaker, "with having raised a Monument of gratitude in our hearts, we would present one to the eye of future generations. Directed by these laudable motives, King Solomon's Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, have erected on Mount Warren, the Pillar you behold—and in their behalf, I now solemnly Dedicate it to the memory of our late beloved and Most Worshipful Brother, the Honorable JOSEPH WARREN, and his associates, who nobly fell on this memorable spot, in the cause of their country. * * * And, O, thou ever existing and omnipresent Architect, approve this solemn Dedication to the memory of Columbia's valiant sons; accelerate the extension of their honest fame, and perpetuate its being in the bosom of posterity. May this public evidence of their valor, teach others the danger of invading the peaceful abodes of freemen,—and may it have a tendency to lessen that lawless ambition for conquest, which has filled the world with blood."

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, nine minute-guns were discharged, "by a detachment of Capt. Smith's Artillery Company, with the flag displayed half-staff high." The procession then returned to the hall, where, a solemn Dirge having been previously sung, "an elegant Eulogy on Gen Warren, was recited by Brother JOSIAH BARTLETT," and the ceremonies were concluded.

In June, of the following year (1795), the Lodge appointed "a committee to fence out a road to the Monument." And this was the last expense incurred by it, except that of keeping it in repair; which it continued to do until the 8th of March, 1825, when it made a present of the Monument, with the land, to the new "Bunker Hill Monument Association," with the understanding that "some trace of its former existence" should thereafter be found in their archives; which pledge was faithfully and honorably redeemed in 1845, when, the present noble Monument having been fully completed and dedicated, a committee of the Lodge waited upon the government of that Association, and obtained permission to place within their obelisk, an exact model of the original Monument. The model was at once procured. It is made of the finest Italian marble, and was constructed by one of the best artists then in the country. It is a beautiful specimen of art, and eminently worthy of the place it occupies, and of the sacred purposes for which it was constructed. Including the pedestal on which it stands, it is about nine feet in height. In addition to the original inscription, it bears the following :—

"This is an exact model of the first Monument erected on Bunker Hill, which, with the land on which it stood, was given, A. D. 1825, by King Solomon's Lodge, of this town, to the Bunker-Hill Monument Association, that they might erect upon its site a more imposing structure. The association, in fulfilment of a pledge at that time given, have allowed, in their imperishable obelisk, this Model to be inserted, with appropriate ceremonies, by King Solomon's Lodge, June 24th, A. D. 1845."

The ceremonies at the inauguration of the new Monument, were on an extensive scale, and were altogether worthy of the occasion, and of the high reputation of the excellent Lodge, under whose immediate auspices they were conducted. Full accounts of them were published at the time, and need not, therefore, be noticed in much detail here.* Lodges, and other Masonic bodies, were present from different parts of the State, and representatives from other States. The Grand Lodges of Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut, were also present. A procession was formed in the public Square, and marched, under the escort of the Boston Encampment of Knights Templars, through the principal streets of the town, to Bunker Hill, where the ceremonies took place,—one of the most interesting incidents of which was, that the presentation of the “working tools” to the Grand Master, was made by the venerable Brother JOHN SOLEY, Esq. who, half a century before, “had the honor,” to use his own words, “of Dedicating, in the name of King Solomon’s Lodge, the first Monument erected on this spot to the memory of those brave men who here fell in the cause of American freedom. And now, after the lapse of fifty years,” continued the aged speaker, “I am, by the mercy of Divine Providence, spared to unite with a new generation, and over the graves of our departed countrymen, to offer anew our heartfelt gratitude for their patriotic services, and to shed the tear of affectionate remembrance over their virtues.”

Our venerable Brother was appropriately responded to by the M. W. Grand Master, AUGUSTUS PEABODY, Esq. After which an able and interesting oration was pronounced by Brother G. WASHINGTON WARREN, Esq., Junior Warden of King Solomon’s Lodge. The Brethren then dined together, in a capacious tent, erected on the spot. Here an address of welcome was delivered by Br. CHARLES W. MOORE, in behalf of the Lodge, and several speeches were made by other Brethren. The occasion was one of surpassing interest; and we have referred to it with some minuteness, as indicative of the abiding love and veneration in which the memory of the lamented WARREN is held by his Brethren of a succeeding generation, and as an appropriate finale to this brief and hasty sketch of his Masonic life and services.

OF

FIRST GRAND MASTER OF THE UNITED GRAND LODGE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

THE death of Gen. WARREN, in 1775, left the "Massachusetts Grand Lodge" without a Grand Master; and there was no Past Grand Officer of corresponding rank, whom the Brethren could call to the vacant Chair. This circumstance seems to have caused some embarrassment among the surviving officers, and to have given rise to some doubt as to their legal ability to continue the organization. The Order in the Colony was then in its infancy, and the laws which govern its proceedings were not probably so well understood, or at least not so generally known, on this side of the Atlantic ocean, as they are at the present time.

During the seige, or the occupancy of Boston by the British,—in the year succeeding the battle of Bunker Hill,—the meetings of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge were suspended.* On the 27th Dec. 1776,—the British having retired from the town, and "several of the dispersed Brethren returned,"—the Deputy Grand Master assembled the Grand Lodge at Freemasons' Hall, in the Green Dragon Tavern, and "celebrated the day with decent economy and temperate joy." But "how to convene the Grand Lodge with regularity," for the transaction of business, "was made a serious question;" as, in the opinion of many of the Brethren, "the commission of the Grand Master had died with him, and the Deputy had no power independent of his nomination and appointment." It was even suggested, "that not only the Grand Lodge, but all the particular Lodges under its jurisdiction, must cease to assemble."

Entertaining such views of the Masonic economy, and of their powers and duties as a Grand Lodge, it is not surprizing that the Brethren should have felt themselves greatly embarrassed by the peculiar circumstances in which they were placed by the death of their beloved Grand Master. We apprehend, however, that they did not take so comprehensive, nor favorable a view of their own constitutional and inherent powers, as was demanded by their necessities and authorized by the conditions of their case. They were unquestionably a Grand Lodge, de jure. As such, they were originally organized and acknowledged by the requisite number of subordinate Lodges, acting under authority emanating, on their petition, directly from the G. Lodge of Scotland. That Grand Lodge had, indeed, reserved to itself, as its prerogative, the right to commission the Brother whom they then had, or might, thereafter, as occasion should require, choose to elect to preside over them as Grand Master. Beyond this, and a merely nominal recognition of a superior, they were, for all necessary purposes, an independent Grand Lodge, invested with power to perpetuate its own existence, until, at least, the present vacancy could be filled by the competent authority. Of this they would not probably have entertained any doubt, had there been a Past Grand Master whom they could have called to the chair of the Grand Lodge. For a precedent, they had the proceedings of their sister Grand Lodge, under precisely similar circumstances.* But not having in their own body a Past Officer of that grade, and erroneously assuming that the powers of the Deputy ceased at the death of his principal, they were, naturally enough, at a loss to know "how to convene the Grand Lodge with regularity." They seem indeed not to have been very familiar with the existing laws of their Institution; for, otherwise, they would have found in the following regulation all the relief they required:—

"If the Grand Master dies during his Mastership; or by sickness, or by being beyond sea, or any other way be rendered incapable of discharging his office, the Deputy, or in his absence the Senior Warden, or in his absence the Junior Warden, or in his absence any three Masters of Lodges, shall assemble the Grand Lodge immediately, in order to advise together upon the emergency, and to send two of their number to invite the last Grand Master to resume his office, which now of course reverts to him; but, if no former Grand Master be found, the present Deputy shall act as Principal till a new Grand Master is chosen; or if there be no Deputy, then the oldest Mason, the present Master of a Lodge."

* The M. W. Thos. Oxnard, Grand Master of the St. John's Grand Lodge, (Boston), died on the 26th June, 1754. On the 12th July following, the R. W. Benj. Hallowell, D. G. M., assembled the Grand Lodge and "appointed Bro. Chas. Pelham and Bro. Jos. Gardner, to wait upon the R. W. Bro. Henry Price, (P. G. M.), to resume his office as Grand Master." There were several other precedents of this kind.

With a knowledge of the provisions of this regulation, our Brethren could not have entertained any doubt as to the legal ability of the Deputy to assemble the Grand Lodge and transact business, until such time as a new Grand Master should be appointed. The primary object of the appointment of such an officer is, that, in the event of the death, or necessary absence of the Grand Master, the Grand Lodge shall not be left without a head. An opposite rule would destroy all confidence in Masonic government, as it might at any moment annihilate the supreme authority. Those of our Brethren who entertained the opinion that the death of the Grand Master dissolved the Grand Lodge, were therefore mistaken in the nature and extent of their own powers. And they were not less in error in assuming that the suspension of the Grand Lodge, under the existing circumstances, carried with it the suspension of the Lodges, also. Had it been true that the powers of the Deputy ceased at the death of the Grand Master, and that the Grand Lodge was thereby dissolved, then, it is clear, that the Lodges fell at once under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, by the authority of whose representative in the Colony they had been created; for there is nothing more certain, than that the principal is responsible for the authorized acts of his agent. The latter being removed, the former assumes his place and responsibilities.

But the difficulty was finally overcome, and the Grand Lodge was assembled by the Deputy Grand Master WEBB, on the 14th February, 1777, when the following vote was unanimously adopted:—

"Voted, That the Deputy Grand Master send summonses to all the Masters and Wardens of Lodges under this jurisdiction, to assemble here on the 7th March, in order to consult upon, and to elect a Grand Master for this STATE, in room of our late worthy Grand Master WARREN, deceased."

The chief considerations which led to the adoption of this vote, were—first, "That the political head of this country had destroyed all connection and correspondence between the subjects of these States and the country from which the Grand Lodge originally derived its commissioned authority;" and, secondly, That "the principles of the Craft inculcate on its professors, submission to the commands of the civil authority of the country in which they reside."* In other words, the independence of the country had been declared, and its national sovereignty asserted. To have continued longer subordinate to a foreign jurisdiction, would have been neither prudent nor consistent with the popular sentiment of the times. The time had fully come, and the legal right to separate from the parent body was indisputable. The act had the sanction of precedence, and was demanded alike by patriotism and self-respect. While the Colonies remained dependencies of the British crown, so long the Grand Lodges of Great Britain might rightfully hold a jurisdictional supremacy over them. But having become politically independent, the foreign Masonic authority was in a position to be terminated at pleasure. The "Massachusetts Grand Lodge" was the first to assert its natural and legal rights in this respect. On the 8th March 1777, it declared itself an independent Grand Lodge, and elected the M. W. JOSEPH WEBB, Esq., its Grand Master. As such, it continued in active operation until 1792, when it ceased to exist as a distinct organization.

The "St. John's Grand Lodge" continued to hold its appointed communications, without interruption, from the year 1733 to the 27th Dec. 1775, when they were suspended, in consequence of the war and the general dispersion which seems to have taken place among the Brethren. From this time, it does not appear that any meeting was held until the 4th of August 1787,—though the members were called together, at the house of Bro. Samuel Dunn, on the 17th of the preceding February, to attend the funeral of the Grand Master, M. W. JOHN ROWE.* At the August meeting, it was resolved to reorganize the Grand Lodge; and a committee was appointed "to write a circular letter to all the Lodges under the jurisdiction, requiring their attendance at the Grand Lodge, to assist in choosing Grand Officers." It does not appear, however, that any such meeting was convened until July 29, 1790, (the R. W. John Cutler, S. G. W. presiding); when, "it having pleased Almighty God, in his wisdom, to take hence the R. W. Grand Master and many other of the Grand Officers of the Lodge," and the "Brethren present taking the same into their serious consideration, voted, unanimously, to proceed to the choice of new Grand Officers." The elections took place forthwith, and the Grand Lodge was reorganized for business. The name of the Grand Master elected does not appear in the record. We however find the R. W. John Cutler presiding in that capacity, at the ensuing meeting, held on the 25th Nov. 1791. And this brings us to the closing scene of the existence of this Grand Lodge, as a separate and distinct organization, and also to the third great epoch in the history of Masonry in Massachusetts; namely, the Union of the "Massachusetts" and "St. John's" Grand Lodges. And as the proceedings had on that occasion, have never been given to the Masonic public, with much clearness of detail, and as they form an important chapter in the history of Masonry in this country, we shall offer no apology for introducing them into this sketch.

To the "Massachusetts Grand Lodge" belongs the high honor of taking the incipient step in this important measure. Though the youngest of the two, it was in a position to justify it in making the first advance. It had nobly maintained itself throughout the whole of the trying scenes of the revolutionary war, and was then strong and prosperous. Its organization was complete, and the number of active Lodges on its roll, equalled, at least, and probably exceeded, the number on the register of its elder sister; which had fallen before the adverse circumstances of the times, and from the effects of which it had but imperfectly recovered.

The first decided movement towards a Union of the two bodies, was the passing of the following vote, by the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, on the 2nd of March, 1787 :*—

* It will be noticed that this was the first meeting after the death of M. W. Bro Rowe; and, consequently, when the other Grand Lodge was without a Grand Master. That body had not, indeed, yet determined what course it was proper to pursue, with reference to their connection with the Grand Lodge of England. The time was therefore judiciously chosen.

"Motioned, That a committee be appointed to confer with the other Grand Lodge, in order, if possible, to obtain a union among Masons, respecting the choice of a Grand Master.

"Voted unanimously, and Bros. John Warren,* Paul Revere, Josiah Bartlett, Thomas Edwards and William Scollay, were appointed and ordered to report at the adjournment," on the first Friday in April.

On the 6th April, the Grand Lodge met, "by especial summons, at the Bunch of Grapes, State street," when the following resolution was adopted :—

"Upon motion, to perfect a plan of union between the two Grand Lodges, as no official accounts were received from said Lodges,† this Grand Lodge came to the following resolution— That a new committee, consisting of seven, be appointed to act in conjunction with the other committee,‡ who were to form a plan of union between the two Grand Lodges, and that said committee write to the several Lodges holding under this jurisdiction, to obtain their sentiments upon the subject, by proxy or otherwise, and report at the next quarterly communication." The committee consisted of Bros. Lowell, Edwards, Bartlett, Dexter, Scollay, Hayes, and Whipple.

Here the matter seems to have rested, until the 5th of December 1791, when it was revived by the Grand Lodge, by the adoption of the following vote :—

"Voted, That a committee of seven be appointed, agreeably to the spirit of a vote of the Grand Lodge passed at a former meeting, (March 2, 1787), to confer with the officers of St. John's Grand Lodge upon the subject of a complete Masonic

* Brother of the late Gen. Joseph Warren.

† Meaning, doubtless, the Lodges under the jurisdiction, whose opinions had probably been asked by the former committee.

‡ A committee which had probably been appointed by the St. John's Grand Lodge, though the fact does not appear upon the records, which are at this time unfortunately defective, in this and some other respects, though generally full and satisfactory.

Union throughout this Commonwealth, and that said committee report as soon as may be convenient. Committee—Brothers M. M. Hays, John Warren, Paul Revere, Josiah Bartlett, William Scollay, John Lowell and Joseph Laughton."

The labors of this committee were crowned with success. The conference contemplated by the foregoing vote was had; and on the 18th January 1792, a "Special Grand Lodge of St. John was called at Bro. Colman's"—R. W. John Cutler in the chair. It was then

"Voted, That a committee of seven be chosen to confer with the committee from Massachusetts Grand Lodge and promote the proposed Union; provided it can be done on true Masonic principles, and that John Cutler, Samuel Parkman, Mungo Mackay, Samuel Dunn, John Foster Williams, Thomas Dennie and William Shaw, be the committee."

This committee, in pursuance of the great purpose of their appointment, met "at the house of Brother Samuel Parkman, Feb. 10, 1792,—all the members being present." The following is given as the result of their deliberations:—

"The committee, taking into consideration the present deranged state of Masonry in this Commonwealth, occasioned by the death of many of the Grand Officers, and neglecting for many years to appoint others in their room, and also taking into their consideration the proposal from the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, to confer with us, on the propriety of a perfect Union of the two Lodges: The committee having duly debated the subject—

"Voted, That such a Union would be for the benefit of Masonry in general, and for the happiness of the Lodges in this Commonwealth, in particular.

"Voted, To meet the aforesaid committee from the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, as soon as convenient, to consult and agree on the most suitable mode of Union, being perfectly satisfied from examining the book of our Constitutions, that we have full power and right to agree to such Union, and when united, to proceed to the choice of all officers necessary to rule the Lodge."*

The joint-committee having agreed upon the terms of the Union, and the manner of proceeding, the St. John's Grand Lodge was assembled at the Bunch of Grape's Tavern, on the 2d of March, when the committee of that body submitted the following report:—

"The committee appointed by this Lodge to confer with a committee of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge on the principles of a perfect Union of the two Lodges,

"Report, That having had several meetings on the subject, have agreed that the proposed Union take place as soon as convenient, and when united, to proceed to the choice of Grand Officers for the present year; and that the choice may be made with that perfect harmony which has ever prevailed in the Lodges, it is recommended to the respective Lodges to appoint Electors from each Lodge, at a meeting which shall be had for that purpose, and those Electors shall appoint the first Grand Officers.

The joint committee have, in pursuance of the trust reposed in them, proceeded to draft a number of rules and regulations for the government of the Lodge, which they recommend to the deliberation of the Lodge.†

"All of which being read by the Secretary, it was unanimously—Voted, To accept the report of the committee: and that

* This committee learned from the historical parts of the Constitutions, that in France, Germany, and other parts of the Continent, where Masonry was originally established by the Grand Lodge of England, the Lodges had, at different times, assumed an elective supremacy and organized independent Grand Lodges, predicated their action on national sovereignty—as the Massachusetts Grand Lodge had recently done.

† We have given these regulations at the close of this sketch, presuming they would be interesting to the reader, as being the first laws adopted for the government of the United Grand Lodge.

a Special Grand Lodge be held at this place, on Monday next, to carry the same into effect."

On the 5th of March following, the two Grand Lodges assembled for the final consummation of the Union. The Massachusetts Grand Lodge met at Concert Hall,—the R. W. Paul Revere, D. G. M., in the chair. "A Constitution and laws," says the record, "for associating the St. John's and the Massachusetts Grand Lodges, as unanimously agreed to by their joint-committee, and accepted by St. John's Grand Lodge, was read and deliberately considered; when the question, whether the said Constitutions shall be accepted, was called for, and it passed unanimously in the affirmative." It was then

"Voted, That Brothers Warren, Scollay and Lowell, be a committee to prepare a list of candidates for officers of the Grand Lodge, and also a list of seven Electors, agreeable to the Constitution."

This committee reported the following names, and their report was adopted :—

R. W. JOHN CUTLER, Grand Master.
 " JOSIAH BARTLETT, S. G. Warden.
 " SAMUEL DUNN, J. G. Warden.
 " SAMUEL PARKMAN, G. Treasurer.
 " JOSEPH LAUGHTON, G. Secretary.

For Electors.—Brothers REVERE, DEXTER, LITTLE,
 BRADFORD, SWAN, LOWELL and SCOLLAY.

A committee was next appointed, (consisting of Bros. Bartlett, Scollay and Bradford,) "to wait upon St. John's Grand Lodge, now sitting at the Bunch of Grapes, and inform them that this Grand Lodge have unanimously accepted the Constitution, and having taken the necessary steps, they are now ready to proceed to the choice of Grand Master, G. Wardens, G. Treasurer, and Grand Secretary."

During these transactions by the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, the St. John's Grand Lodge was in session at the Bunch of Grape's Tavern—R. W. John Cutler, D. G. M., in the Chair. Having dispatched some preliminary and unimportant business, it proceeded to the choice of the following Brethren, as candidates for officers of the United Grand Lodge :—

- R. W. JOHN CUTLER, Grand Master.
- " JAMES JACKSON, S. G. Warden.
- " SAMUEL DUNN, J. G. Warden.
- " SAMUEL PARKMAN, G. Treasurer.
- " THOMAS FARRINGTON, G. Secretary.

For Electors.—Brothers SAMUEL DUNN, JAS. JACKSON, SAMUEL BARRETT, WILLIAM SHAW, THOS. FARRINGTON, THOS. DENNIE and JOB PRINCE.

At this stage of the proceedings, the committee of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, were introduced, and informed the Grand Lodge that the body they represented, had "completed their business, and their Electors were in waiting to join in Convention, to choose officers for the (United) Grand Lodge." The committee then withdrew, and the electors were ordered to proceed with the important business of their appointment.

The Brethren who met in Convention were—Paul Revere, (Chairman), Samuel Barrett, James Jackson, Samuel Dunn, Job Prince, Thomas Dennie, Wm. Shaw, Thomas Farrington, John Lowell, Aaron Dexter, Wm. Scollay, Samuel Bradford, Wm. Little and Caleb Swan ; "who, having examined the lists of candidates, unanimously made choice of the following Brethren, as the first officers of the Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honorable Society of Free and Accepted Masons, for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts :—

- R. W. JOHN CUTLER, G. Master.
- “ JOSIAH BARTLETT, S. G. Warden.
- “ MUNGO MACKAY, J. G. Warden.
- “ SAMUEL PARKMAN, G. Treasurer.
- “ THOMAS FARRINGTON, G. Secretary.”

The Convention then rose, and the members having reported the result of their doings to their respective constituencies, the “Massachusetts Grand Lodge,” after the transaction of some necessary private business, was dissolved, and the St. John’s Grand Lodge was “closed in due form.”

On the 19th of the same month, the St. John’s Grand Lodge was again assembled, “for the special purpose of Installing the Grand Master elect, and establishing the Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honorable Society of Free and Accepted Masons, for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.” The R. W. John Warren, (P. G. M. of the late Mass. G. L.) presided on the occasion, and having announced the business of the meeting, a committee was appointed to introduce the officers elect into the Grand Lodge. The records relative to the Union, and the regulations agreed upon, were then read, and the Rev. Brother Walter addressed the Throne of Grace, in an appropriate and fervent prayer. The R. W. John Warren then installed the new Grand Master, “in ample form ; and after an animated address, calculated for the happy event, placed him in the Chair of Solomon.” The Grand Master selected the R. W. John Lowell, Esq., for his Deputy, and announced the other necessary officers. Having finished the installation services, he delivered a Charge on the principles of Masonry, "in which his knowledge of the Craft was eminently displayed." A procession was then formed, "and the Brethren, in their proper order, paid the usual salutes and congratulations." After which, "an eloquent address was delivered by the Rev. Brother Walter," and the Grand Lodge was "closed in ample form."*

Thus was the Union of the two Grand Lodges in Massachusetts, begun and perfected in the true spirit of Brotherly-Love. And over the bodies thus happily united and formed, the distinguished Brother, whose name we have placed at the head of this article, was honored in being called to preside, as the FIRST GRAND MASTER.

For reasons which it is not necessary here to consider, St. Andrew's Lodge did not, until sometime after its consummation, accede to the Union; but fell back under the jurisdiction of its mother Grand Lodge of Scotland. This recusancy, by a Lodge so respectable and influential, was a source of deep regret to the Brethren; and the Grand Lodge availed itself of the first meeting, after its organization, to address that Lodge on the subject, in the hope of bringing about a reconciliation, and thus removing the only remaining obstacle to a complete and perfect union of the whole Fraternity within the jurisdiction. The address is so truly Masonic in sentiment and so beautiful in conception,—and, withal, so honorable to the head and the heart of our Brother the Grand Master, — that it would be doing injustice to his memory, to omit it in any narrative of his Masonic history. And it is the more worthy of preservation in this connection, as being his first official act, after his inauguration :—

To the R. W. Master, the Officers and Members of St. Andrew's Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, No. 52 of the Registry of Scotland :

RESPECTED BRETHREN,—We think it our incumbent Duty to communicate Officially, that a Complete Union of the Two Grand Lodges, formerly held in this State, is happily effected—and that the G. Lodge of the most ancient and honorable Society of Free and Accepted Masons for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is completely organized.

The sole objects of their Coalition, are, to obliterate as far as possible, all distinctions heretofore made, to provide for a regular intercourse of the Brethren, and by all other means to promote the interests of our Ancient Fraternity. And happy we are that every transaction of this important Era, has been marked with Candor, Unanimity, and a strict adherence to the genuine principles of the Institution. All Lodges heretofore established, are to retain their Original Charters, (the Dates, and the Grand Lodges from whence they were issued being recorded by the G. Sec'y), and a due Representation, with the payment of equal Quarterly Assessments, entitle such Lodges to a regular Connection with this G. Lodge ; to take precedence according to seniority ; and all former G. Lodge records and other Masonic papers, are safely deposited in our Archives. Quarterly Communications are to be holden on the evenings of the second Mondays of December, March, June, and September, annually.

The G. Master and G. Wardens are to be annually elected at the Meeting in December ; Two-thirds of the Votes present make a choice, and no Brother is eligible for these Offices, more than three years successively. The G. Treas. and G. Sec'y. are also annually elected by the G. Lodge, and the other G. Officers are appointed by the G. Master.

A Regular Code of Laws (in which the ancient Land-Marks are sacredly preserved) is carefully compiled : and a Book of Constitutions containing our History, Charges, Regulations, &c., collected from old Records, and faithful Traditions, being now in the press, will soon be published under the authority of the Grand Lodge.

Having stated these particulars, we beg leave to remark : That the late deranged State of Masonry, required every exertion for its revival and support, and we doubt not but all worthy Brethren will cheerfully lend their aid in such way as they think best to promote so laudable a Design. We do not on this occasion urge any sentiments to influence your conduct, and we tender you our warmest wishes for your prosperity and happiness. The Masonic Institution is not the Offspring of Discord, or Usurpation, but is founded on the broad basis of Universal Philanthropy, and though we may differ in circumstances not essential, we are sacredly bound to cherish its benevolent Designs, by a mutual intercourse of affection and esteem, for, "The liberal Soul shall be made fat," and he that watereth shall be watered also Himself.

The only other business transacted at this meeting, was the appointment of a committee "to consider and complete the Book of Constitutions;" and the passage of a resolution "to assess the several Lodges in Boston and Charlestown," to defray certain expenses incurred by the Grand Lodge.

At the Quarterly Communication on the 11th of June following, the Grand Lodge voted to celebrate St. John's day on the 25th, at Trinity Church.*

* Prayers were read by the Rector, Dr. (afterwards Bishop) Parker, and the Sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Walter.

The September communication, "by the advice of his Grand Officers," was postponed by the Grand Master, "on account of the small pox prevailing in Boston." No Grand Lodge was therefore held until the following December, when "all the officers were re-elected and re-appointed as in the preceding year." The only other business of special interest, was the passage of a vote, requesting the Grand Master and Wardens to "present to our most beloved Brother GEORGE WASHINGTON, the new Book of Constitutions, with a suitable address." The officers were installed on the 27th December—as is the present custom.

At the Quarterly Meeting in March, the Grand Master laid before the Grand Lodge, the following interesting correspondence, which was ordered to be recorded :—

"The Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to their honored and illustrious Brother, GEORGE WASHINGTON, President of the United States.

"Whilst the historian is describing the career of your glory, and the inhabitants of an extensive empire are made happy in your unexampled exertions : Whilst some celebrate the Hero, so distinguished in liberating United America, and others the Patriot who presides over her councils ; a band of Brothers, having always joined the acclamations of their countrymen, now testify their respect for those milder virtues, which ever grace the Man.

"Taught by the precepts of our Society, that all its members stand upon a level, we venture to assume this station, and to approach you with that freedom, which diminishes our diffidence, without lessening our respect.

"Desirous to enlarge the boundaries of social happiness, and to vindicate the ceremonies of their Institution, this Grand Lodge have published a Book of Constitutions, (and a copy for your acceptance accompanies this) which, by discovering the principles that actuate, will speak the eulogy of the Society; though they fervently wish the conduct of its members may prove its higher commendation.

"Convinced of his attachment to its cause, and readiness to encourage its benevolent designs, they have taken the liberty to dedicate this work to one, the qualities of whose heart, and the actions of whose life, have contributed to improve personal virtue, and to extend, throughout the world, the most endearing cordialities; and they humbly hope, he will pardon this freedom, and accept the tribute of their esteem and homage.

"May the Supreme Architect of the Universe protect and bless you—give you length of days and increase of felicity in this world, and then receive you to the harmonious and exalted Society in heaven!

JOHN CUTLER, Grand Master.

JOSIAH BARTLETT, }
MUNGO MACKAY, } Grand Wardens.

"Boston, December 27, A. D. 1792."

"To the GRAND LODGE of Free and Accepted Masons for the COMMONWEALTH of MASSACHUSETTS.

"Flattering as it may be to the human mind, and truly honorable as it is, to receive from our fellow-citizens testimonials of approbation for exertions to promote the public welfare, it is not less pleasing to know, that the milder virtues of the heart are highly respected by a Society, whose LIBERAL PRINCIPLES ARE FOUNDED IN THE IMMUTABLE LAWS OF TRUTH AND JUSTICE.

"To enlarge the sphere of social happiness is worthy the benevolent design of a Masonic Institution, and it is most fervently to be wished, that the conduct of every member of the Fraternity, as well as those publications that discover the principles which actuate them, may tend to convince mankind that the grand object of Masonry is to promote the happiness of the human race.

"While I beg your acceptance of my thanks for the 'Book of Constitutions' which you have sent me, and for the honor you have done me in the dedication, permit me to assure you that I feel all those emotions of gratitude which your affectionate address and cordial wishes are calculated to inspire. And I sincerely pray, that the Great Architect of the Universe may bless you here, and receive you hereafter in his Immortal Temple.

GEO. WASHINGTON."

At the communication in Sept. 1793, the following case of discipline came up for consideration. We give it as a matter of curious interest :—

"A letter from John Shinitz, setting forth that various reports have been circulated against him as a Master in Israel, tending to disparage his character. Wherefore, he humbly prays, that it might please the M. W. Grand Master, presiding in the Chair of Solomon, and ruling in the throne of Wisdom and Justice, to institute an inquiry whether the said Reporters have ought against him, the said John Shinitz, and in case no man can validate any charge against him, that he, the said John Shinitz, may be allowed to bring his gift to the altar of Masonry, and offering his offering in the appointed seasons, to be reconciled to his fellow workers in the Temple of harmony, where the hammer of discord was never heard. Which being read, was committed to Brothers Paul Revere, Josiah Bartlett, and Simon Elliot."

At the communication in March, the following further proceedings were had on the subject :—

"A letter addressed to this Grand Lodge from John Shinitz, was read, setting forth that he, the said John, is fully convinced of his having acted in some instances, against the regular Masonic Constitutions, and hath also failed in that due obedience which is so essential to the preservation of harmony, subordination and order. For all which improper and unbecoming conduct he humbly implores permission to express his most unfeigned sorrow and deep contrition, requesting the forgiveness and pardon of all his superior officers and equal Brethren, earnestly beseeching that he may be restored to the rights, privileges and confidence of Masonry, faithfully promising, with the assistance of the Supreme, hereafter to demean himself as a good and true Mason, without deviating from the straight line of duty.

"Whereupon, voted, That the letter be put on file till the Quarterly Communication in Dec. next, at which time, if the said John Shinitz shall have behaved himself in all respects as becomes a good Mason, his application shall then be considered, and not otherwise."

On the 8th December, ensuing, we find the following entry, which simply mystifies the whole matter :—

"A letter from George (John) Shinitz, addressed to this Grand Lodge, on the 10th March last, and referred over to this meeting, was read. Whereupon, voted, That the said George Shinitz be restored to the rights, privileges and confidence of Masonry, upon condition that he be made in a regular Lodge."

The services of the M. W. Brother CUTLER, as Grand Master, closed at this meeting—Dec. 8, 1794—he having held the office a little less than two years. The R. W. Paul Revere was elected his successor. We have not the means of determining, with certainty, in what Lodge or at what precise date, our Brother was made a Mason. But the fact that he was Junior Warden of the "Second Lodge in Boston," in the year 1762, renders it more than probable that he was there initiated.* In 1763, he was elected its Senior Warden, and served it as Master during the years 1764–5 and 6.† In 1767, he was elected the presiding officer of the "Masters' Lodge," and in the same year was chosen Junior Warden of St. John's Grand Lodge; which latter office he held until 1771, when he was elected Senior Grand Warden. Having served in this capacity three consecutive years, he retired; but was re-elected to the same office in 1787, and served about four years more. In 1791, and part of

* He received the third degree in the "Master's Lodge," July 3, 1761.

† In 1773, he was Treasurer of this Lodge.

1792, he filled the chair of the Deputy Grand Master. In March of the latter year, he was chosen Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge, as before stated.

It is honorable to the memory of our Brother that during this long period of thirty years, he was rarely absent from the meetings of the Grand Lodge, and seldom free of official cares and responsibilities. He was deeply imbued with the spirit of that old-fashion school of Masonry, to which the Fraternity of this country are indebted for the noblest examples of Masonic fidelity and devotion. Eminently qualified by acquired and natural endowments for any position in the Institution, he never shrank from any duty his Brethren saw fit to require of him. He was, in the highest and best sense of the phrase, a "bright Mason;" and the confidence of his Brethren in his ability, as the presiding officer of a "working Lodge," was strikingly manifested by their placing him in the chair of the "Masters' Lodge." How well he was beloved by them, and how sincere was their confidence in him, is best told by their own act, in selecting him from among the many able and distinguished Brethren, by whom they were surrounded, as the first presiding officer of the United Grand Lodge. Towards him the eyes of both parties were turned, for their future guide and counsellor. And he did not disappoint them. His administration was distinguished by ability and crowned with success. He realized all their expectations, and retired from the office with honor.

Mr. CUTLER was born in Boston in the year 1723. Having been well educated at the public schools of the town, he was apprenticed, at the usual age, to learn the trade of a Brass Founder; which business he subsequently carried on at No. 39 Marlboro' street, now a part of Washington street. At the beginning of the revolutionary war, he resided in Cornhill, near the "Indian Queen Tavern;" and during the siege of Boston, his house was the resort of many of the British officers,—a circumstance that would seem to justify the inference, that he did not sympathize very warmly with the patriot-cause. Hence the reason, probably, why his name does not appear in any of those bold movements in which the "Mechanics of Boston" at that day so eminently distinguished themselves. His political opinions, however, whatever they may have been, seem not to have affected his social position, or impaired the confidence of his townsmen in his integrity. His position through life was that of high respectability. He had several daughters, one of whom married his friend and Brother, Capt. Samuel Dunn, who was Junior Grand Warden during the time he filled the Grand Master's Chair in 1791, and who in 1800, was elected to the Grand Mastership. He also had two sons, James and Benjamin,—the latter of whom was at one time High Sheriff of Norfolk County. Many of their descendants are among the most respectable of our citizens. He died, after a lingering confinement, at his residence in Marlboro' street, on Saturday, Oct. 26th, 1805, and was buried under Trinity Church (of which he was a member), on the following Thursday.

The funeral ceremonies were conducted by the Grand Lodge, on a scale of so much magnificence and marked propriety, that we have thought some account of them here, would neither be out of place nor uninteresting to the Brethren of the present day.

The M. W. Grand Master, ISAIAH THOMAS, Esq., on receiving intelligence of the death of Mr. Cutler, assembled the Grand Lodge, and appointed a committee to wait on the family, and "ascertain whether Masonic honors would be agreeable to them." This committee having attended to the duty of their appointment, reported, that such proceedings would be very acceptable to the family, and that it was their desire "that the Grand Master would be pleased to appoint the day of interment, and otherwise direct as he should think proper on the occasion." The Grand Master accordingly appointed the following Thursday "for the funeral, if fair weather ; if not, the next fair day." He also appointed Brothers Bartlett, Scollay, Boyle, Russell and Bell, a committee "to retire, deliberate and report as soon as may be," a plan of proceedings for the occasion. This committee forthwith reported as follows—"That the M. W. Grand Master be requested to summon the members of the Grand Lodge to assemble on Thursday next, at 2 o'clock P. M., at Trinity Church, to attend the solemnities ; that a procession, in ample form, with such regalia and decorations as the M. W. Grand Master may direct, proceed from Trinity Church to the Mansion House of the deceased, with Music, and attend the funeral to Trinity Church,—the Church Funeral Service to be performed at the request of the family of the deceased, by Rev. John Gardner : That a committee be appointed to procure a Band of Music, and other necessities for the occasion, and to assist the M. W. Grand Master, &c."

This report was adopted, and the R. W. Brothers John Warren,* Paul Revere and Josiah Bartlett, P. G. Masters ; Wm. Scollay and Joseph Laughton, P. D. G. Ms. ; and Mungo Mackay, P. G. W., as "Pall Hlders." They were requested "to dress in black, and wear Cocked Hats." White Scarfs, with black knobs, were directed to be provided for the Pall Holders ; and new white gloves, and plain aprons, and white Crape, as a Mourning Badge, for each officer of the Grand Lodge, to be worn in the procession, and on the lower left arm. The arrangements having thus been decided on, the Grand Lodge was closed until the morning of the day of the funeral, when it again assembled "in the Vestry room in Trinity Church." All this being in readiness the M. W. Grand Master directed the Grand Marshal to form a procession in the following order :—

3d Marshal, with a Wand.

- Two Grand Pursuivants, with Black Rods—purple knobs, with white knobs under them.
- One Tyler of the oldest Lodge, with a sword.
- Two Tylers of the next oldest, with swords.
- One Tyler of the next oldest with a sword.
- Two Stewards of the oldest Lodge, white Rods black knobs.
- One Steward of the next oldest, white Rods black knobs.
- Entered Apprentices, two and two.
- Fellow-Crafts, two and two.
- Master Masons, two and two.
- Stewards.
- [To form a triangle with the last two, if an odd one, with a white Rod.]
- Junior Deacons.
- Senior Deacons.
- Secretaries.

* This we think is a mistake. He was a Past Master and member of the second, not the first Lodge in Boston, as previously stated.

The Church Funeral Service, by the desire of the relations, as the deceased was a member of the Church, was read by the Rev. John Gardner. Solemn Music proceeded from the Organ and the Band. The acacia was deposited in the coffin, a sprig by each Brother, and followed by a concluding and well adapted prayer, by the Rev. Bro. Murray, the attending G. Chaplain.

The officers of the Grand Lodge then retired into the Vestry room—closed, unclothed, and dispersed.

The Brethren who formed the other parts of the procession, unclothed in the Church, and retired.

The Masonic procession was truly respectable; a very large number of Brethren attended; good order and great regularity were observed, and "great satisfaction appeared to be expressed by thousands of spectators."

THE COMPACT,

AGREED UPON AT THE UNION OF THE ST. JOHN'S AND MASSACHUSETTS GRAND LODGES, IN 1792.

SECTION 1.

1. In the year of Masonry, five thousand seven hundred and ninetytwo, the St. John's Grand Lodge, and the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, by their Committees of Conference, duly appointed, having deliberately considered the present state of Masonry, and being desirous to promote the benevolent designs of the Ancient Fraternity, do mutually agree in a Complete Union of the Grand Lodges aforesaid. And that impartiality and candor may mark the original proceedings of such coalition, each Grand Lodge shall assemble at their respective places, on the first Monday of March, and shall nominate a Grand Master, Grand Wardens, Grand Treasurer, and Grand Secretary, after which they shall each appoint seven Electors, to meet in Convention, and form such list of Candidates, to form a New Grand Lodge.

2. The Grand Master Elect, shall notify a meeting of all persons authorized to sit in Grand Lodge, and, having declared his acceptance, shall appoint a Deputy Grand Master, Grand Deacons, Grand Stewards, Grand Marshal, Grand Sword Bearer, and Grand Tylers. He shall then cause the names of the Officers thus chosen and appointed, to be duly recorded, and they shall continue till the next regular election.

3. This Grand Lodge, organized as aforesaid, shall forever hereafter be known by the name of "The Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honorable Society of Free and Accepted Masons for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." Its powers and prerogatives are independent; all distinctions between Ancient and Modern Masons shall, as far as possible, be abolished: The mode of working practised by the late St. John's Grand Lodge, is hereby recommended to the Lodges now established; and shall be enjoined upon all Lodges hereafter constituted.

4. All Grand Lodge records heretofore made, and other Masonic papers, shall be safely deposited in the archives of this Grand Lodge, and they shall never be carried out, but by the Grand Master's permission.

5. All Lodges heretofore established, may retain their original Charters, the date, and G. Lodges from whence they were respectively issued, being recorded by the G. Secretary, and a due representation, with the payment of equal quarterly assessments, shall entitle such Lodges to a regular connection with the G. Lodge, to take precedency according to seniority.

SECTION 2.

1. All past and present G. Masters, Deputy G. Masters, and G. Wardens, shall be considered as members of the G. Lodge, and no others.

2. All members of the G. Lodge, and other G. officers for the time being, excepting the G. Tylers, and the representatives of every Lodge under this jurisdiction, shall have a right to sit and vote in G. Lodge, and every Brother shall be properly vested with his Jewel and clothing before he takes his place.

3. No vote of the G. Lodge shall be reconsidered by a less number of voters, than were present at the passing the same.

4. No Brother shall be admitted into the G. Lodge, but such as are members and voters, excepting petitioners, and witnesses, or those called in by motion ; in neither of which cases shall they be admitted to sit at the table.

SECTION 3.

1. A G. Master shall be annually chosen, on the evening of the second Monday in December ; and no person shall be eligible for the Office, more than three years successively.

2. In the election of the G. Master, a ballot at large shall be taken—every voter writing the Candidate he thinks best qualified, and the Brother who has two-thirds of the votes present, shall be declared G. Master, and installed in due form, according to ancient usage.

3. In case of sickness, or necessary absence, the Grand Master, or any other officer, may be installed by proxy, but whoever represents him must have sustained the office to which such absent officer is to be installed.

4. The G. Master shall appoint and commission his Deputy, under the seal of the G. Lodge ; and he shall appoint and declare all other G. Officers, excepting the G. Wardens, Treasurer, and Secretary.

5. The G. Master shall, when present, indispensably fill the Chair : in his absence, the Deputy G. Master ; in both their absence, the Senior G. Warden : in the absence of these, the Junior G. Warden ; and in case of the absence of all these officers, the eldest G. Officer in the Lodge, is to fill the Chair, that the G. Lodge may always appear in due form. The presiding officer shall wear the Jewel of the G. Master, and all others the Jewels of the officers they respectively represent.

6. No G. Master, Deputy G. Master, or G. Warden, shall during his continuance in office, be Master or Warden to, or representative of, a particular Lodge ; and no Brother shall be eligible for either of said Offices, who has not passed the Chair of some regular Lodge, to be made known by proper vouchers.

7. The G. Master, with his Deputy, G. Wardens, Treasurer and Secretary, if convenient, shall, during his Mastership, visit the several Lodges, under his Jurisdiction, and shall examine their Records and proceedings, and see that no innovation be committed in any of them—first giving such Lodges timely notice of his approach.

8. The G. Master has full right and authority to preside in every Lodge under his Jurisdiction, with the Master on his left hand; and to summon his G. Wardens, Treasurer and Secretary, to attend him, who are to act in their several capacities, whenever the G. Master takes the Chair.

9. The G. Master, Deputy G. Master, and G. Wardens, shall severally, at the time of their installation, make the following declaration—"I solemnly promise upon the honor of a Mason, that in the office of ——— I will, accordingly to the best of my abilities, strictly comply with the laws and regulations of this Grand Lodge, and all other Ancient Masonic usages."

SECTION 4.

1. The G. Wardens shall be chosen in the same manner as the G. Masters (Sec. 3, Art. 2) and with the same restriction (Sec. 3, Art. 1).

SECTION 5.

1. The G. Treasurer shall be chosen annually by a majority of written votes, and must be a Master Mason.

2. He must be a Brother of good worldly substance, and to him shall be committed the monies belonging to the G. Lodge. He shall always keep a fair Record of his accounts and transactions, and the uses to which the monies are appropriated, and shall lay the same before the G. Lodge when required.

3. When the monies in Stock amount to forty pounds, he shall put it to interest on good security, and shall give Bonds to the G. Master for the time being, that such sums, and the interest arising thereon, shall be appropriated to the use of G. Lodge.

SECTION 6.

1. The G. Secretary shall be chosen in the same manner and with the same qualifications as the G. Treasurer, vide Sec. 5, Art. 1.

2. He must be a Brother, who can write a good fair legible hand, and shall keep accurate records, of all the transactions of G. Lodge. He shall present all the votes and orders of the G. Lodge, after they are entered, to the G. Master for his approbation and signature; he shall issue summonses as the G. Master may direct, and shall give reasonable notice in at least one public newspaper, of every stated meeting of the G. Lodge; he shall read the Records of the preceding meeting, every Quarterly Communication, before any other business is entered upon, and he shall be rewarded for his service from time to time, as the G. Lodge may direct.

SECTION 7.

1. The G. Deacons, G. Stewards, G. Marshal, and Grand Sword Bearer, must be Master Masons.

2. The G. Stewards shall attend in preparing the Feast, on a regular summons for the purpose; and they shall always see that the Tables are regularly and Masonically spread.

3. The G. Marshal shall attend the G. Feast and assist the G. Master, in the order and arrangement of the day; and the G. Sword Bearer shall attend on all public occasions.

SECTION 8.

1. The G. Tyler shall attend every call of the G. Master, and be present at every G. Lodge; for which services he shall be rewarded from time to time according to his merit.

SECTION 9.

1. There shall be annually held four Quarterly Communications, in some convenient place, which the G. Master shall appoint, viz.,—on the evening of the second Mondays of December, March, June, and September; and special Grand Lodges shall be held at the G. Master's direction.

2. All matters in G. Lodge shall be determined by a majority of votes, excepting where other provision is made, and the Brother in the Chair shall have the casting vote.

3. All differences that cannot be accommodated privately, or made up in particular Lodges, are to be seriously considered, and decided on, in G. Lodge; and if any Brother thinks himself aggrieved by the decision, he may appear at the Annual G. Lodge next ensuing, and leave his appeal, in writing with the G. Master, Deputy, or the G. Wardens.

4. At the third stroke of the G. Master's hammer, repeated by the G. Wardens, there shall be a general silence; and whoever speaks without permission from the Chair, shall be publicly reprimanded; under the same penalty every Brother shall take his seat and keep strict silence, whenever the G. Master, or his Deputy, shall call to order.

5. No Brother is to speak more than twice to the same subject, unless to explain himself, or when called upon from the Chair, to speak. The Brother who addresses the Chair, shall rise, and keep standing, and no Brother shall interrupt him under the penalty of a reprimand, unless the G. Master, finding him wandering from the point sees fit to reduce him to order; and after being set right, he may proceed.

6. Every Lodge under this jurisdiction shall once every year, transmit to the G. Lodge, the names of their officers, and also the names of the Brothers who have been made Masons, past Fellow Crafts, and raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason, in order that the same may be duly noticed by the G. Lodge.

7. Every Lodge shall be represented by their own Master and Wardens, and by a proxy ; and no proxy shall be received in the G. Lodge, except he be a Master Mason, and a member of some Lodge under this jurisdiction.

8. The G. Lodge has an inherent power, and authority, to make new regulations, and alter these for the benefit of the Institution, provided always that the Ancient Land Marks be carefully preserved, and that such new regulations be proposed, at a Quarterly Communication, and agreed to by a majority of the Brethren present, at the Annual Grand Feast.

SECTION 10.

1. The G. Wardens and G. Secretary shall make all necessary preparations for every G. Feast, and they shall be assisted by the G. Stewards, or some general undertaker.

2. Every Brother present at a G. Feast, shall be controlled by the G. Master, in every thing that pertains to the decency and decorum of his conduct.

NOTE. Many of the Lodges in the foregoing Tables, subsequently to their being Chartered, were permitted to change their names, and not unfrequently their locations. We have preferred to give both as they were originally designated in their Charters. In several instances, the name of the Lodge is omitted in the records; which it is difficult now to supply. We have in a few cases attempted to do so; but have placed a query against the name inserted, thus (?). The dates of Charters are doubtless in some instances defective. The year named is believed to be, generally, correct.

NOTES TO THE PRECEDING TABLES.

- (1.) This Lodge was originally styled, "The first Lodge in Boston," and did not assume the name of "St. John" until many years after its establishment. We think it did not until about the time of the Union of the Grand Lodge, in 1792.
- (2.) The name of this Lodge does not appear in the records. The Charter was granted to Benjamin Franklin and others. Franklin was its first Master.
- (3.) This Lodge confined its labors exclusively to the raising of Masters. It conferred no other degree, and its regulations excluded all who were not proficient in the second degree. Most of the Grand Officers, including the Grand Master, Henry Price, were members of it, and filled the principal offices.
- (4.) This Lodge was attached to the army.
- (5.) Attached to the 28th British regiment.

NOTES TO THE PRECEDING TABLES.

- (6.) This Lodge was attached to the army, in its expedition against Canada.
- (7.) This Lodge was attached to the army.
- (8.) This Charter was granted to eighteen members of St. John's Lodge, desirous of forming a new Lodge. On the 2d Nov. 1791, it was re-united with St. John's Lodge.
- (9.) This Charter was granted to subjects of his "Most Christian Majesty," resident in Boston, and is, with the exception of Harmonic, which was composed mostly of foreigners, and more recently the Germania, the only Lodge ever established by foreigners in Massachusetts. On the 8th May, 1781, the name was changed to "The Perfect Union Lodge."
- (10.) This was a "Travelling Lodge," and the Charter was granted to officers of the American army, with authority to ma Masons in Massachusetts, "or in any of the United States, where there was no Grand Lodge."
- (11.) This Charter was granted to John Copp and others to hold a Lodge in "the State of New York." The name of the town does not appear in the record. There seems to have been great carelessness in recording the Dispensations and Charters issued; which is probably in some measure attributable to the circumstance, that the former were frequently issued by the Grand Master, during the recesses of the Grand Lodge.
- (12.) This Lodge originated in a division of St. Andrew's Lodge, (Boston,) holding under the Grand Lodge of Scotland.
- (13.) This was the second Charter granted for a Lodge in Salem, under the same name. The Charter of the first "Essex Lodge," was returned March 6, 1789.
- (14.) In June, 1800, this Lodge was permitted to hold its meetings alternately at Cheshire and Lanesboro', three months in each place.
- (15.) In June, 1799, the Grand Lodge granted permission for this Lodge to meet alternately at Charlton, Sturbridge and Dudley.
- (16.) This Lodge was originally Chartered with the privilege, it is said, of making Royal Arch Masons, and, therefore, we presume, considered itself "in perfection." What power the Grand Master had to grant such a privilege, does not appear. The Grand Lodge never assumed to exercise it; but at a subsequent period revoked the Charter of a Lodge for conferring more than the three Degrees.
- (17.) In March, 1799, the Grand Lodge voted not to grant any Charters for two years. In this case the vote was suspended.
- (18.) Afterwards called Friendly Society Lodge.

LAYING OF CORNER STONES.

[THE following ceremonies were observed by the Grand Lodge, at the Laying of the Corner Stone of the State Hospital, at Northampton, on the 4th of July 1856, and are here inserted as convenient for future reference.]

Grand Master.—Right Worshipful Senior Grand Warden The Grand Lodge of this Commonwealth having been invited by the State authorities to lay, in due and ancient Masonic form, the Foundation Stone of an edifice here to be erected as an Asylum for the alleviation of human suffering; and that invitation having been accepted, I now order that this Grand Lodge assist me in the performance of this work. This my will and pleasure you will proclaim to the Junior Grand Warden, and he to the Brethren, and others present, that all having due notice may govern themselves accordingly.

Senior Grand Warden.—Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden: It is the order of the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that this Corner Stone be now laid with Masonic honors. This his will and pleasure you will proclaim to all present, that the occasion may be observed with due order and solemnity.

Junior Grand Warden.—Brethren, and all who are present, will take notice that the Most Worshipful Grand Master will now deposit this Foundation Stone in Masonic form. You will observe the order and decorum becoming the important and solemn ceremonies in which we are about to engage.

INVOCATION BY THE GRAND CHAPLAIN.

HYMN.

Grand Master.—Right Worshipful Brother Grand Treasurer : You will read the inscription upon the Plate which is to be deposited under the Foundation Stone.

[The Grand Treasurer here read the inscription.]

Grand Master.—There being no objection, I now order you, Brother Grand Treasurer, to deposit the Plate, with the papers, in the place prepared for their reception.

[Music by the Band during the ceremony of making the deposit.]

The principal Architect then presented the working tools to the Grand Master, who directed the Grand Marshal to present them to the Deputy Grand Master, and Senior and Junior Grand Wardens.

The Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and Grand Wardens then descended from the platform ; the G. Master taking the Trowel, the Deputy Grand Master the Square, the Senior Grand Warden the Level, and the Junior G. Warden the Plumb, the Grand Master standing at the East of the Stone, his Deputy on his right, Senior Grand Warden at the West, and the Junior Grand Warden at the South side of the Stone. The Grand Master then spread the cement ; and when that had been done, he directed the Grand Marshal to order the Craftsmen to lower the Stone. [This was done by three motions, viz :—1st, by lowering a few inches and stopping, when the public Grand Honors were given ; 2d, again lowering a few inches, and giving Grand Honors ; 3d, letting the Stone down to its place and giving the Grand Honors as before. The Square, Level and Plumb were then applied to the Stone by the proper officers.]

[FLOURISH OF MUSIC.]

Grand Master. Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master : What is the proper Jewel of your office ?

Deputy Grand Master. The Square.

Grand Master. Have you applied the Square to those parts of the Stone that should be square ?

Deputy Grand Master. I have, Most Worshipful Grand Master, and the Craftsmen have done their duty.

Grand Master. Right Worshipful Senior Grand Warden : What is the proper Jewel of your office ?

Senior Grand Warden. The Level.

Grand Master. Have you applied the Level to the Stone ?

Senior Grand Warden. I have, Most Worshipful Grand Master, and the Craftsmen have done their duty.

Grand Master. Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden : What is the proper Jewel of your office ?

Grand Master. Have you applied the Plumb to the several edges of the Stone ?

Junior Grand Warden. I have, Most Worshipful Grand Master, and the Craftsmen have done their duty.

Grand Master. Having full confidence in your skill in the Royal Art, it remains with me now to finish the work.

The Grand Master then gave three knocks upon the Stone, and said—

“I find this Foundation Stone WELL FORMED, TRUE and TRUSTY, and may this undertaking be conducted and completed by the Craftsmen according to the grand plan, in Peace, Love and Harmony.”

The Deputy Grand Master then received from the Grand

Marshal the Cornucopia containing Corn, and spread the corn upon the Stone, saying :—

“ May the health of the workmen employed in this undertaking be preserved to them, and may the Supreme Grand Architect bless and prosper their labors.”

The Grand Marshal then took the Wine from the Altar and presented it to the Senior Grand Warden, who poured it upon the Stone, saying :—

“ May plenty be showered down upon the people of this ancient Commonwealth, and may the blessing of the Bounteous Giver of All Things attend all their philanthropic undertakings.”

The Grand Marshal presented the Oil to the Junior Grand Warden who poured it upon the Stone, saying :—

“ May the Supreme Ruler of the World preserve this people in Peace, and vouchsafe to them the enjoyment of every blessing.”

Grand Master. “ May Corn, Wine and Oil, and all the necessities of life, abound among men throughout the world ; and may the blessing of Almighty God be upon this undertaking, and may the structure here to be erected be preserved to the latest ages, in order that it may promote the humane purposes for which it is designed.”

The Grand Master then presented the Implements to the Architect, saying :—

“ To you, Br. Architect, are confided the implements of operative Masonry, with the fullest confidence that by your skill and taste, a fabric shall arise, which shall add new lustre to our honored Commonwealth. May it endure for many ages, a monument of the liberality and benevolence of its founders.”

“ Old Hundred” was here sung by the assembly, and the ceremonies were closed by a Benediction from the Rev. Dr. Stearns.

NOTE.—It is very probable that the dates in the above Table, may not, in every instance, correspond, in month and day, with the date in the Charter of the Lodge named. They are given, except where the actual date is known, at the time when the Charters were granted by the Grand Lodge. This is the true date, though the Grand Secretaries have frequently dated the Charters at the time they were issued, or made out. This, in some cases, has been two or three months after they were granted, and after their true date.
